ENHANCED SORT SMART APP NOW AVAILABLE

Submitted by John R. Statton

Leduc Environmental Services released an enhanced version of the Sort Smart app for Apple and Android smartphones on June 22.

“More and more residents are downloading the app as a handy way to keep all the details about waste management in Leduc instantly available,” said Kerra Chomlak, environmental sustainability co-ordinator with the City of Leduc. “The improved

3.0 version builds on the success of the original app.”

Leduc residents on-the-go have discovered the benefits of the Sort Smart app to help them keep the details straight about smart sorting, collection schedules and which carts are collected each week.

Now the version 3.0 Sort Smart app for both Apple and Android phones offers enhanced and improved features. Enhancements include more materials listed in the Sort Smart database and even more convenient access to the information on the app.

The Apple and Android 3.0 versions can both be downloaded from Leduc.ca. Residents currently using the previous version must uninstall the previous version and then install the 3.0 version.

For more information about the Sort Smart app and other environmental initiatives in Leduc, check out Leduc.ca, e-mail ecosmart@leduc.ca or call the Eco-smart Hotline at 780-980-7107.

SECOND READING OF 'THE FAIRNESS IN CHARITABLE GIFTS ACT'

Submitted by Jim Eglinski, MP – Yellowhead

Member of Parliament for Provencher, Ted Falk's Private Members Bill – C-239 – 'The Fairness in Charitable Gifts Act', would have allowed registered charities to provide their donors with the same generous donation receipts that politicians can now issue. Unfortunately, on June 8th the Liberal and New Democrat Members of Parliament voted against this bill ensuring its demise.

On June 7th, I spoke in the House of Commons on this bill and below are a few excerpts from my speech. My complete speech can be found at: <http://www.parl.gc.ca/content/hoc/House/421/Debates/067/HAN067-E.PDF> (See page 77.)

"The bill before us is a great bill for all members of the House and their ridings. It would help every riding in this country. The depth and scope of the non-profit and voluntary sector in Alberta has provided a wide variety of services to the communities. Non-profit and volunteer organizations touch virtually all aspects of our communities."

"I do not think anything could be clearer than what has transpired in Fort McMurray, Alberta, in the last month. Donations flooded into charities from across Canada. Hotels opened their doors, and people donated personal money, food, rations, and gas."

"Bill C-239 is a great initiative to level the playing field. The primary motivation for donating is the compassion and personal belief of most people."

"It is very interesting to note how Canadians pulled together in all parts of this country to support services in their communities. It is the generosity of donors that makes these agencies work, such as the Red Cross, animal shelters, senior centres, and community groups."

It is sad that C-239 did not pass Second Reading. It would have put receipts for charities and political donations on an even playing field. Unfortunately, on June 8th the Liberal and New Democrat Members of Parliament voted against this bill. Bill C-239 would have given more money to those who need it and less to those who do not. I firmly believe that if we had a fair tax exemption program, as this bill was asking for, people would give more generously. Charities are suffering, and they need donations in order to operate.

FIRE SERVICES BATTLES BLAZE AT APARTMENT COMPLEX

Submitted by John R. Statton

City of Leduc Fire Services (LFS) responded to and suppressed a 3-alarm structure fire at a local apartment complex on June 12.

“A very quick response from fire crews, and strong tactical and critical decision making made by command staff prevented this fire from further extending to the interior of this apartment complex,” said George

Clancy, fire chief with the City of Leduc. “A strong, aggressive fire attack by our firefighters saved this property from further damage and allowed the majority of residents return to their homes within a couple of hours of the start of the fire.”

Crews arrived to find a working fire on the balcony of a first story apartment at 3604 Rolleyview Road at approximately 10:24 p.m. Fire damage was confined to the balcony of the fire occupancy and three balconies above.

Following a thorough investigation by fire investigators on scene, the cause of the fire was deemed to be a malfunctioning barbecue.

RCMP assisted LFS with the evacuation of all residents, and there were no injuries reported. Leduc Victim Services also responded to assist those that may have been affected by the trauma of this event.

A total of 22 firefighters responded, with the first truck arriving on scene within five minutes of being dispatched, and had the fire suppressed within two and a half hours.

FRAMEWORK FOR RECREATION IN CANADA INTRODUCED IN REGION

Submitted by Megan Candie

Leduc, AB — The Leduc region – comprised of seven individual municipalities – is the first collective group in the province to publicly support the Framework for Recreation in Canada, which sets a common vision, goals and priorities for recreation.

Representatives from each municipality in the region gathered Monday to demonstrate support for the framework, and showcase the many ways it is reflected in local recreation and parks services [see backgrounder for a list of initiatives].

“We all know the importance of being active, both physically and mentally,” says Ricardo Miranda, minister of Alberta Culture and Tourism. “Active communities are also healthy communities, and I applaud the Leduc region for its initiative and leadership in taking this national framework and turning it into a local plan for action.”

The goals of the framework centre on the enhancement of individual and community well-being through recreation and include: active living, inclusion and access, connecting people and nature, supportive environments and recreation capacity.

“By supporting this framework, we acknowledge that the five goals provide us with a shared vision for recreation in the region,” says City of Leduc Mayor Greg Krischke. “Together, we are committed to enhancing recreation in the community and creating a strong recreation system in the region for all to enjoy.”

The Framework for Recreation in Canada was developed by the Interprovincial Sport and Recreation Council and the Canadian Parks and Recreation Association, in an effort to stimulate coordinated policies and practices in recreation aimed at improving the wellbeing of individuals, communities and the built and natural environment.

The Government of Alberta, in partnership with the Alberta Recreation and Parks Association, has developed the Municipal Recreation Engagement Strategy to support a coordinated implementation of the goals identified in the framework, and is encouraging municipalities in Alberta to adopt this strategy.

ALBERTA PARKS MAKES BOOKING CAMPSITES EASIER WITH MOBILE ACCESS

Submitted by Government of Alberta

In response to user demand, many campsites in Alberta's provincial park campgrounds can now be booked on personal devices through Reserve.AlbertaParks.ca (RAP).

People can use RAP while on the go, making it easy to change a campsite booking, extend a stay or reserve their next camping trip.

And there's more. The RAP website has undergone a complete revamp, including an updated campsite vacancy calendar.

"Albertans love to use our provincial parks and with the new improvements to the RAP website, it will be much easier to get outside and explore Alberta's great outdoors."

Shannon Phillips, Minister of Environment and Parks

The system boasts many new features, including a responsive design to make it more user-friendly and interactive from both personal mobile devices and desktop computers. Enhancements will give campers more access to information for trip planning (deep linking, event and program information) and sharing of information via social media. It also features a more intuitive search function (users can search campsites by map, nearest community or campground).

Bookings as of May 12 of this year are six per cent higher than in 2015, with more than 55,000 reservations processed.

To book a campsite, group camping area or comfort camping unit through a mobile device, just go to the Reserve.AlbertaParks.ca website, search and book a spot.

Alberta Parks encourages wildfire evacuees of Fort McMurray to access free camping options through its contact centre by calling 1-877-537-2757 and not the RAP mobile feature.

Campers are reminded that fire bans and restrictions remain in place for areas of the province. People camping this weekend should check ahead to beta.AlbertaFirebans.ca or AlbertaParks.ca to check on the status of fire bans and restrictions, including off-highway vehicle restrictions, to avoid fines.

Anyone experiencing an issue with the mobile access booking function can get technical assistance at Reserve.AlbertaParks.ca or phone the Alberta Parks Contact Centre at 1-877-537-2757.

The RAP system, introduced in 2009, has processed almost 800,000 camping reservations since inception and boasts more than 433,000 account holders. Last year alone the system processed more than 151,000 camping reservations.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
