FULL STEAM AHEAD FOR THE 2018 CP HOLIDAY TRAIN

– Country star Terri Clark and guests to roll into Leduc Dec. 9 to celebrate the season

Submitted by Natalie Lang, Communications Associate | City of Leduc

All aboard for free, festive fun! The CP Holiday Train will be rolling back into Leduc on Dec. 9 from 7:30 – 9:30 p.m. for its biennial stop at the No Frills parking lot. This is the 20th anniversary of the Holiday Train which chugs across the continent each year, lighting up the holiday season and raising donations for local food banks all along the way.

This year's event will feature country singer Terri Clark as well as Kelly Prescott and Sierra Noble. The free event will also include family activities, an Adventure Bus for kids, caroling led by the Leduc Drama Society, and a visit from Santa. Complimentary hot chocolate and coffee will be provided by Alternate Route Coffee Co.

There will be no event parking available on-site, so the city encourages everyone to take advantage of the free shuttle service being offered by Leduc Transit. The Park & Ride service will feature live onboard entertainment, courtesy of Turner Guitar Studio and the Maclab Centre for the Performing Arts, to get riders in the holiday spirit on their way to the train. Shuttle service will be running from 6:30 until 10 p.m.

There is no cost of admission to this event, but the Leduc & District Food Bank will be collecting donations of cash or non-perishable food items both on the buses and at the event site.

Fire pits and buses will be available to help everyone stay warm, but we encourage all attendees to dress appropriately for the weather.

RCMP SHARES TIPS FOR SAFE CANNABIS CONSUMPTION

Submitted by Alberta RCMP

Serious accidents can easily happen when you drive while impaired by a drug, regardless of the quantity or the purpose of using it. The Alberta RCMP would like to remind the public that getting behind the wheel while impaired by drugs is not only dangerous, it's against the law.

"Cannabis affects everyone differently," says Constable Mike Hibbs, "K" Division Media Relations. "There is no safe limit for drivers who are recreational cannabis users or medicinal users since everyone has a different body tolerance for drugs."

Drug-impaired driving laws apply to all drivers, including those with a medical authorization for cannabis. The new law is consistent with the Criminal Code's long-standing drug-impaired driving offence which has never exempted drivers who drive impaired by prescription drugs.

Different drugs act on your brain in different ways, but almost all affect your attention, judgment, reaction time, decision-making skills and more. If you choose to use cannabis, choose not to drive.

Here's what you need to know to keep roads and public spaces safe for everyone:

- Cannabis consumption is banned in vehicles. Provincial laws have established a number of consequences when cannabis is consumed in a vehicle, including fines and other administrative penalties to discourage and reduce the incidents of impaired driving.

- Keep cannabis out of reach. When cannabis is in a car, it must be secured in closed packaging and not within reach of any occupants.

- Prescription drugs can impair a person's ability to safely control a moving vehicle. When taking prescription drugs, it is vital to follow doctors' orders against operating any machinery, for a certain time after taking them. Talk with your doctor about the effects of your prescriptions and how they can react with other substances.

- Know your local rules before consuming. Albertans are allowed to consume cannabis in their homes and in some public spaces. Municipalities have the power to create additional restrictions on public use.

When motorists follow safe driving practices, such as planning ahead and arranging a designated driver, the risk of being involved in a collision resulting in death and injury are significantly lower. The Alberta RCMP will continue to positively impact the safety of those travelling on roads through public education and strategic enforcement plans.

HEALTH, SAFETY RULES IN FORCE ON FARMS AND RANCHES

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Farm and ranch workers now have similar health and safety requirements as workers in other industries and other provinces.

On Dec. 1, the Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) Code will apply to farms and ranches that employ waged, non-family workers. The code contains technical health and safety rules and now includes new rules specifically for farms and ranches.

“Our government has the backs of working people and we value the contributions of Alberta’s farm and ranch communities. We have worked collaboratively with farmers, ranchers and workers to make changes that ensure workers in Alberta benefit from the same protections as workers in other provinces.” - Christina Gray, Minister of Labour

“All workers have a right to return home safely each day. I am confident the new rules will ensure farm and ranch workers are better protected, just like their peers in other provinces. I want to thank Alberta producers for their hard work and for helping find the right balance.” - Oneil Carlier, Minister of Agriculture and Forestry

The new rules were created through extensive consultation with industry stakeholders during the past two years. The rules reflect the need to protect health and safety while preserving the unique way of life on farms and ranches.

Alberta farmers and ranchers created AgSafe Alberta, an industry-led, non-government health and safety association. AgSafe has developed programming and additional resources to help farmers and ranchers implement the new rules.

Healthier, safer farms and ranches

By comparing data from 2017 to 2016 – the first year health and safety rules applied to the sector – the overall injury rate decreased 21 per cent and the serious injury rate decreased 23 per cent.

Quick facts

- About 4,100 farms and ranches in Alberta employ waged, non-family workers.
- Family members and volunteers are exempt from the OHS rules. Neighbours can still provide support to neighbours and kids can still do chores on the farm as they have always done.
- Eligible producers can apply for grants to help offset the costs of implementing the new rules. Up to $6 million is available during the next three years through the Farm Health and Safety Producer Grant program.

- OHS officers are currently visiting farms and ranches to respond to complaints or investigate serious incidents or fatalities.

On Sunday, Oct. 14, 2018, an adult female reported to police that she had been sexually assaulted by a male, identified as Vincent Nose-worthy, on Tuesday, Aug. 14, 2018.

ual assault, sexual assault, choking with the intent to overcome resistance, assault and unlawful confinement. He has since been released on conditions.

Noseworthy is active on online dating websites and may use the name "Vinnie Worth." As a result, investigators believe there may be additional complainants and are concerned that he may commit another offence against someone while in the community.

In the interest of public safety, police are releasing a photo of Noseworthy and are encouraging any additional complainants to come forward.

CITY OF EDMONTON'S ANNEXATION APPLICATION APPROVED

Submitted by Megan Candie, Communications Coordinator | Leduc County

The Government of Alberta, by way of an Order in Council signed Nov. 27, approved the City of Edmonton's annexation of land from Leduc County.

Effective Jan. 1, 2019, 8,260 hectares (20,402 acres) of Leduc County land will become part of the City of Edmonton.

"The Government of Alberta's decision reflects the agreement we reached with the City of Edmonton in 2017, after years of collaborative discussion. The decision to support the annexation application demonstrates the importance and value of regional collaboration." - Tanni Doblanko, mayor

The City of Edmonton issued a notice of intent to annex land from Leduc County on March 5, 2013, and an agreement was reached between the city and county on June 30, 2017.

The Order in Council supported the conditions outlined in the agreement, including providing a 50-year property tax protection provision in the annexation area, meaning properties will be assessed and taxed at the lowest of either the City of Edmonton's or Leduc County's tax rate for a 50-year period, unless specific landowner-initiated development occurs.

LET THERE BE LIGHT: BUS STOPS ILLUMINATED TO IMPROVE VISIBILITY

– Solar-powered lights installed at 14 of Leduc Transit’s bus stops

Submitted by Lauren Wozny, Communications Officer | City of Leduc

Leduc Transit is investing in rider safety by installing solar-powered lights at 14 bus stops with limited lighting. Support for the initiative is provided by the Government of Canada, contributing $12,500 to this project through the Public Transit Infrastructure Fund (PTIF), and by the Government of Alberta, contributing $6,250 through GreenTRIP.

“The Government of Canada is committed to investing in green infrastructure that helps communities find sustainable solutions to local needs,” said the Honourable François-Philippe Champagne, Minister of Infrastructure and Communities. “These new solar-powered lights will increase visibility to improve passenger safety while also saving energy costs, a win-win for everyone in Leduc.”

Installation currently focuses on Route 2 in the west end of Leduc. Bus stop locations were chosen for lighting through consultation with bus drivers, who based their selection on current lighting conditions and consistent rider use. The intent is to keep riders visible to bus drivers and traffic during early morning and night times when lighting is usually poor.

“We are pleased to support the installation of cost-effective, environmentally-friendly solar powered bus stop lights in the Leduc area,” said the Honourable Brian Mason, Minister of Alberta Transportation. “This investment will improve safety and visibility for riders.”

In addition to improving visibility and safety, the lights are also dark sky friendly. Once it’s dark, riders can activate the LED lights on demand by pushing a button. When active, the lights stay on for roughly five minutes, shinning directly onto the bus stop below and minimizing light pollution cast into the night sky.

“It is important to Leduc County council to offer public transportation options to our residents, workers and visitors. Alongside the City of Leduc, we are proud to champion innovation with the installation of solar lights that help improve visibility and safety for our valued customers,” says Leduc County mayor Tanni Doblanko.

“The addition of these lights helps to fulfill Leduc city council’s mandate to balance growth and development with respect for our natural surroundings,” says City of Leduc mayor Bob Young. “Through partnership with Leduc County and with contributions from the Government of Canada and the Government of Alberta, we are able to improve the experience for Leduc Transit riders while being mindful of the environment.” Although other transit properties across Alberta have begun installing solar-powered technology, Leduc Transit is among the first to install solar bus stop lights. More information regarding Leduc Transit is available online at LeducTransit.ca.

Submitted by Samantha Watson-Penner, Communications Associate | City of Leduc

A total of $17,000 was raised during this year's Breakfast with the Mayor fundraiser, held Nov. 6, 2018 at the Executive Royal Hotel. The event proceeds went to support two local not-for-profit organizations, Leduc and District Victim Services and Riseup Society, both of which work directly with victims of family violence.

"The Breakfast with the Mayor event demonstrates how powerful it is to come together and create conversation," says Leduc Mayor Bob Young. "On behalf of the City, I would like to extend a big thank you to everyone who joined us and donated to both incredible organizations. Your generosity will have a great impact on the lives of those who are struggling with family violence in our region."

The Breakfast with the Mayor event aims to raise awareness and funds to help end family violence in Leduc. This year's theme, Understanding the Complexities of Family Violence, was underlined through guest speaker Namrata Gill, who spoke fearlessly of her first-hand experiences with domestic violence and the lessons she has learned through her 18-year career with the Edmonton Police Service.

"Family violence can affect all aspects of a person's life. It is important that we come together and discuss the realities of this complex issue," says Donna Brock, Director of Community and Social Development with the City of Leduc. "The enduring support for this event has shown us that the leaders in our region are prepared to continue to work towards eliminating family violence from our communities."

Through events such as Breakfast with the Mayor, the City of Leduc is dedicated to keeping our region safe by bringing awareness and community support to issues like family violence.

SUDOKU

OF THE WEEK

Fun By The Numbers

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

2	4	9	1	5	8	6	3	7
3	7	5	4	9	6	8	2	1
8	6	1	2	7	3	5	9	4
