Submitted by Gerald Soroka, MP for Yellowhead

Gerald Soroka, Member of Parliament for Yellowhead, joined his Conservative colleagues in announcing a new proposal to improve the Canada Emergency Response Benefit (CERB) - called Back to Work Bonus. This plan would ensure that Canadians will no longer be put in a position where they will earn less money by working more.

"As our province moves forward with its reopening plan, I've heard from many of my constituents wondering how the transition back to a more open local economy will affect them."

NEW TRAINING FOR EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATORS

The Alberta government is providing funding to train individuals who work with children to help prevent and address abusive and harmful situations.

Submitted by Government of Alberta

The Respect in School training program is being expanded to day care and day camp workers. The training offered through Respect Group has been provided to school leaders – including teachers, educational assistants, custodians and bus drivers – across Alberta and is designed to give individuals who work with children the tools to identify and address bullying, abuse, harassment and discrimination.

“Early childhood educators and day camp professionals work very closely with the children and families in their programs every day and are uniquely positioned to play a role in keeping children safe. This training will help further their skills in recognizing and responding to issues of maltreatment which will further keep children safe.” - Rebecca Schulz, Minister of Children’s Services

“Giving school leaders more tools in their tool box to support our students benefits all of society, and I’m proud to be able to do so as Minister of Education. Our collective efforts to stop bullying and harassment online, in our homes, in our workplaces and in our schools must be a priority. We all have a role to play, and we must do all we can to support and protect our children.” - Adriana LaGrange, Minister of Education

“This program reflects our government’s commitment towards building strong, resilient communities that support and protect each other in difficult times. By working with professionals in child care and day camps, we can give them the tools they need to help end the cycle of violence and keep kids safe.” - Leela Sharon Aheer, Minister of Culture, Multiculturalism and Status of Women

“These are stressful and anxious times for our kids and those who interact with them each day. Proactive education to deal with these realities is key and I applaud Minister Schulz, Minister LaGrange and Minister Aheer for their collaborative leadership. I am proud to live in a province where child protection and psychological safety is a top priority.” - Sheldon Kennedy, co-founder, Respect Group

“Foothills School Division was the first school jurisdiction in Alberta to require Respect in School certification. This training supports our responsibility of creating, maintaining and promoting a welcoming, caring, respectful and safe learning environment. Over 96 per cent of our certified users felt the program made them a ‘more child-centered leader’ which, to me, says it all!” - Allen Davidson, assistant superintendent, Employee Services, Foothills School Division

While children currently remain unable to attend school due to the COVID-19 pandemic, identifying domestic abuse may be more challenging to determine. By taking this training, professionals who work with children will gain skills to better understand, prevent and respond to incidents, as well as to proactively build safe and nurturing environments for children to thrive, both at home and in the community. While early childhood educators do take some courses in this area – such as trauma-informed care and non-violent crisis intervention training – this course offers an opportunity to refresh and tailor their skills to the challenges they may encounter today.

Quick facts

- There are more than 18,000 certified staff working in Alberta’s licensed child care programs.
- Child care staff are encouraged but not obligated to take the training, which will be funded by government.
- More than 5,000 school leaders have already taken the program and tens of thousands more are eligible.
- There are about 20,000 day care staff and 5,000 day camp workers eligible to take this training.

Fund To Help Indigenous Community-Owned Businesses

Communities must own and control 51 per cent or more of the proposed business or joint venture to be eligible.

Past funding from ABIF has been used to build grocery stores, hotels, gas stations, and purchase heavy equipment, including marketing and telecommunications equipment.

ABIF funds also helped to expand the operations of a forage operation that exported timothy hay and alfalfa to international markets in Japan, Korea, the Middle East and China.

“Thanks to ABIF funds, Kainai Forage is able to play a key role in growing the on-reserve economy and providing employment and advancement opportunities for our membership, while positioning the Blood Tribe as a broader participant in global agricultural businesses.” - Chief Roy Fox, Blood Tribe

The closing date for applications is Sept. 30.

Quick facts

- ABIF has supported 40 projects to date that have created:

- almost 300 full-time jobs
- more than 150 full-time construction jobs
- 130 spinoff businesses

- Previously funded projects include:

- Piikani Resource Development Ltd. (Gravel Pit) -

A large-scale commercial gravel pit located on the Piikani First Nation used funds to buy a loader, pit trucks, a portable office and a fuel tank.

- Loon River Truck Stop - used funds to construct the building and fuel systems for the stop and convenience store.

- O’Chiese Market Place Inc. - was granted funds to build an almost 1,022-square metre grocery store on the O’Chiese First Nation.

- Bears paw Kananaskis Travel Centre - used funds to construct a 557-square metre travel centre across from Stoney Nakoda Resort and Casino.

Conservatives' Propose 'Back to Work Bonus' to Help Workers and Local Businesses

"I've listened to your concerns and expectations for the future, and I'm proud to say that Conservatives have put forward a proposal that will help you get ahead. We are focused on getting workers and businesses in this community and across the country back on their feet." MP Soroka stated.

Since the beginning of the pandemic, Conservatives have been putting forward constructive solutions to fix the design flaws in the Liberals' programs and help deliver better outcomes for Canadians. We are building on that success with the new Back to Work Bonus. We know helping workers and local businesses will drive Canada's economic recovery.

Under our Conservative plan, Canadians who lost their jobs through no fault of their own during the pandemic will continue to receive their full $2,000 CERB. In addition, as businesses reopen, workers who make between $1,000 and $5,000 per month would qualify for a CERB top-up that would be gradually phased out by 50 cents for every extra dollar earned over the $1,000 threshold.

For a part-time server making $2,000 per month, the Back to Work Bonus would result in a top-up of $1,500, for a total monthly income of $3,500.

"Our plan is flexible and generous because Conservatives believe it should always pay to work," MP Soroka said. "After all this country has been through, Canadians should not be penalized for picking up a shift or gradually returning to their job as their employer reopens. We're going to keep working to get all Canadians the help they need."

"I hope the government will listen to Conservatives' and implement these much-needed changes."

MORE PROTECTION FOR COMMERCIAL TENANTS

Proposed legislation will safeguard businesses from eviction, and more, as Alberta deals with the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Bill 23, the Commercial Tenancies Protection Act, would protect eligible commercial tenants from having their leases terminated due to non-payment of rent as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. If passed, the act would also prevent landlords from raising rent and charging late fees and penalties on missed rent.

The new measures will help address shortfalls in the current Canada Emergency Commercial Rent Assistance (CECRA) program, and will give eligible business owners peace of mind as they reopen and help with the provincial economie recovery.

“Alberta has the most generous support models for small businesses in Canada, but we know that more supports are needed. We’re listening to Alberta’s business community, and we’re responding to their needs. If passed, these protections will provide businesses with more protection as they reopen and rehire staff as we move through the phases of relaunch and recovery.” - Tanya Fir, Minister of Economic Development, Trade and Tourism

The legislation and upcoming regulation would cover the period from March 17 to Aug. 31, and would apply to:

- Commercial tenants with tenancy agreements that would be eligible for the CECRA program, but whose landlords have chosen not to participate.

- Commercial lease agreements where tenants have had to close their business due to public health orders or have had their business revenue decline by 25 per cent or more as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

If passed, any late fees, penalties or rent increases imposed on a commercial tenant by their landlord between March 17 and Aug. 31 would need to be reimbursed, however, the legislation would not undo any evictions or lease terminations that happened before the legislation was tabled.

“As small businesses move into reopening, many are facing lower revenues and fear not being able to make rent payments. Today’s announcement of commercial eviction legislation will provide a safety net for those small businesses unable to access the CECRA and will help them reopen and continue their operations.” - Annie Dormuth, Alberta provincial affairs director, Canadian Federation of Independent Business

“This moratorium legislation will reduce the anxiety and fear small businesses had of being evicted from their premises during the pandemic. Businesses who faced a potential eviction for non-payment of rent due to substantial revenue decreases can feel a bit more reassured of their chances of reopening.” - Ken Kobly, president and CEO, Alberta Chamber of Commerce

preciates the government coming to the table with this much-needed commercial rent protection legislation. The inability to pay rent with little or no revenue for the past few months, combined with the inability to convince landlords to participate in the CECRA program or other rent relief arrangements, is the No.1 concern for the majority of Alberta’s restaurants. The legislation introduced today will provide the time needed for restaurant tenants and their landlords to agree to long-term rent solutions without worrying about evictions.” - Mark von Schellwitz, vice-president, Western Canada, Restaurants Canada

The act would also help ensure landlords don’t miss out on deferred rent by requiring tenants and landlords to work together to develop a rent payment plan for missed payments.

Alberta has a comprehensive response to COVID-19 including measures to enhance physical distancing, screening and testing. Financial supports are helping Alberta families and businesses.

Quick facts

- Many businesses have experienced a dramatic decrease in revenues, while other businesses have temporarily ceased operations as a result of COVID-19.

- Rent and labour are two of the largest expenses for small businesses, typically accounting for 50 to 60 per cent of total operating expenses.

- In 2016, Alberta businesses paid an average monthly rent of almost $650 million.

RCMP WARN RESIDENTS OF PARTS SHOP CREDIT CARD SCAM

Submitted by Drayton Valley RCMP

Drayton Valley, Alta. – Between June 12-17, 2020, Drayton Valley RCMP have received a number of complaints of fraudulent credit card purchases being made by active cards that have not been reported stolen.

SUDOKU

of the week

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!
