INTERMUNICIPAL COLLABORATION FRAMEWORK JOINT MEDIA RELEASE

Submitted by Town of Mayerthorpe

Lac Ste. Anne County and the Town of Mayerthorpe today announced the finalization of their Intermunicipal Collaboration Framework (ICF) agreement, thus concluding protracted negotiation efforts spanning several years. The parties reached terms of a five-year ICF by negotiated agreement on November 19, 2021.

ICFs are provincially-mandated agreements between bordering municipalities that are intended to integrate and streamline resources.

Following many rounds of negotiation attempts, the ICF mediation talks ended in 2020 with key issues unresolved. On June 15, 2021, Minister of Municipal Affairs Ric McIver appointed an arbitrator to help resolve outstanding ICF issues between both parties. At the core of this arbitration was the Recreation and Culture Services Agreement. Both municipalities devoted significant time and resources to sharing evidence and information on recreation and culture issues including facility operating costs and historical recreation funding amounts. At the conclusion of this process, a financial agreement was reached that allowed the...

and industry to gain a better understanding of the community's strengths and opportunities.

"I am very pleased to welcome Sherry to the Town's organizational team. Ms. Poole's expertise, network of connections, and extensive experience will be a great asset to Mayerthorpe", said CAO St. Martin.

...Town and County to finalize their ICF agreement and avoid a lengthy and expensive arbitration hearing.

Although the process was challenging at times, the Town and County are pleased to have resolved the terms of this agreement and are eager to move forward in a positive direction. As part of the agreed resolution, Lac Ste. Anne County will withdraw its amalgamation request.

An additional outcome of the recent arbitration was the formation of an ICF committee. The Town and County are committed to using the newly formed ICF Committee to help support a more robust approach to intermunicipal collaboration in the coming years. The first meeting of this committee is expected to occur by June 2022.

JOKE of the week

A girl walks into the kitchen first thing in the morning to find her mother holding a cookie jar and tapping her foot angrily.

"Young lady," says her mom, "last night I left 2 cookies in the jar, and now there's only one. How do you explain that?"

"I guess it was so dark I missed the second one."
— says the girl.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING STRUCTURAL ISSUES

Investigation continues

Lac Ste. Anne County continues to work towards resolution of the Administration Building structural issues.

To protect the County's interests, the lawsuit against the parties involved in the management, design, and construction of the Administration Building is ongoing. Litigation steps are expected to be taken throughout 2022.

Structural investigations and development of solution options continue. Once long-term solutions are provided to us, they will be considered with the goals of ensuring that the interests of the County residents and ratepayers are addressed, and they have a quality building to support the important services the County delivers.

We also remain focussed on ensuring that in the interim the building remains safe and appropriate mitigation measures are taken.

Based on the advice of the County's legal counsel handling the lawsuit, limited information can be shared during the litigation process. Unfortunately, elected officials and staff are not able to provide any comments or additional information at this time.

Lac Ste. Anne County Council and Administration continue to sincerely thank ratepayers for their understanding as we work to bring this matter to conclusion.

BEAVER CONTROL

Trapping season is now underway.

Please exercise caution and keep dogs leashed in common trap areas.

The County has begun setting beaver traps in problematic locations (ditches and ravines). Residents are strongly encouraged to keep their pets on leashes if they plan to venture into ditches.

If you encounter a beaver trap, do not go near or touch it; a beaver trap is a dangerous device. If you are trapping beavers, please make sure to follow the Code of Responsible Trapping, available at albertaregulations.ca

Please note that as stated in the 2021-22 Alberta Guide to Trapping Regulations, fur-bearing animals must be trapped using methods that are proven to avoid unnecessary pain and suffering.

The manner in which animals are trapped is a concern of many Albertans, including trappers.

Visit LSAC.ca/beavers for more information on the County's beaver abatement program.

MP SOROKA ASKS THE MINISTER TO STOP TAX INCREASES

Submitted by Gerald Soroka MP for Yellowhead

Gerald Soroka, Member of Parliament for Yellowhead, asked the following during Question Period:

“Mr. Speaker, my constituent, Darren, sent me the following message on how inflation is affecting his life. He said, “With payments, registration, repairs and fuel to drive to work, there isn't much motivation to keep working. Then the government takes two-thirds of my income for income taxes, CPP, EI and the carbon tax. I will have to soon borrow money to be able to stay working.

When will this Liberal government start listening to Canadians and stop these continual tax increases?”

Reply:
Terry Beech (Parliamentary

Secretary to the Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Finance, Lib.):

“Mr. Speaker, our government has been focused on affordability issues and issues around inflation. Since taking office in fact, it was our government that implemented a thorough poverty strategy that lifted 1.3 million Canadians out of poverty.

We are investing in programs like childcare that is going to lower the cost of childcare in B.C. by 50% by the end of this year. We are investing in the national housing strategy to make sure people can afford a place to live. These are all measures the Conservatives are not supporting, but we are going to get it done.”

ADD CURB APPEAL TO YOUR PROPERTY

Many people are familiar with the idea that a strong first impression can go a long way. While that idea is most often referenced in regard to personal interactions, it's also applicable to real estate.

When selling a home, homeowners who emphasize curb appeal may find it far easier to sell their homes. Curb appeal refers to the impression a home's exterior makes on people seeing the home for the first time. In 2014, the online real estate database Zillow surveyed real estate agents and found that curb appeal was one of the five most important factors when selling a home.

Projects that improve curb appeal can be vast undertakings or simpler projects, and the following are a handful of projects to improve a home's curb appeal that run the gamut from simple to complex.

- Clean up the yard. Cleaning up the yard is among the simpler yet most effective projects to improve a home's curb appeal. When selling their homes, homeowners should clear the yard of any clutter, including kids' toys, grass clippings or items that might be scattered throughout the yard. A cluttered yard suggests homeowners do not care much about their home's appearance, and that may lead buyers to think that indifference extended to maintaining the home's interior as well. Many buyers will ignore properties without any external aesthetic appeal, but cleaning up the yard does not require much effort or expense on the part of sellers.

- Make the main entryway more inviting. Creating a more inviting entryway won't be as simple as cleaning up the yard, but it can help create a ...

...strong first impression without breaking the bank. To begin, remove plants and furniture from the front porch or area surrounding the doorway, as such items can create a cluttered feel. If the front door is old, replace it. Custom doors may be expensive, but they might add the wow factor buyers are looking for. If a new door is beyond your means or just unnecessary, repaint the door, ideally in a color that complements the color of your home and the surrounding landscape.

Address pavement problems. Paving problems are not necessarily an expensive fix, but the cost of repairing driveways and walkways can add up if it's been awhile since these areas were refurbished. Still, one of the first things buyers will notice when getting out of their cars is the ground they're walking on, so patch and repair or even replace driveways and walkways that have fallen into disrepair.

Add or upgrade outdoor living spaces. Outdoor living spaces also can set a property apart from others on the market. A recent study from the National Association of Realtors found that buyers would not hesitate to pay asking price for homes with outdoor living spaces. When adding or upgrading outdoor living spaces, try to depersonalize the spaces as much as possible, as buyers want to picture themselves, and not the sellers, enjoying these areas. Include some comfortable furniture, adequate lighting and a dining area in your outdoor living space as well.

Curb appeal can add a lot to a home, while lack of such appeal can make a home difficult to sell. Homeowners who want to sell their properties for asking price or more should address curb appeal before putting their homes on the market.

Spring HOME RENO GUIDE

FACTORS TO CONSIDER WHEN PLANNING A HOME OFFICE

As technology has made working remotely easier, more and more professionals are working from home. Working from home can help working parents save money on childcare costs and help all workers avoid rush hour traffic jams and the costs of commuting to and from the office.

The right working environment is essential for men and women who work from home. An environment that's conducive to work can help people increase their productivity and make their employers more likely to allow more employees to work from home. Professionals who are new to working from home may find it takes some time before they can create the perfect working environment, but the following are a few factors to consider when planning a home office.

Space

One of the disadvantages to working from home is that remote workers don't have access to the same level of equipment as in the main office, such as col- or copiers or scanners. If you want to include even scaled-down versions of such equipment in your office, you will need ample space. In addition, less spacious home offices can feel too tight and enclosed, making workers uncomfortable and less enthusiastic about working every day. Pick a spot in your home that affords room for your equipment and the ability to move around so you don't feel cramped throughout the workday.

Lighting

Lighting is another factor remote workers must consider when they're planning their home offices. Natural light can provide an energetic boost and improve your mood, so choose a room in your home that gets lots of sunlight during the day. Many professionals who work remotely do so from the basements of their homes, which can make it difficult to rely on natural light. If the basement is the only location in your home that can fit a home office, look for lighting sources that replicate daylight so you are not working in...

....dark quarters. Speak with your physician about how to arrange lighting to reduce eyestrain caused by staring at a computer.

Connectivity

Connectivity also must be considered when planning a home office. While wireless Internet has made Internet dead zones less problematic, certain areas or rooms in your home may still be touch-and-go with regard to Internet connectivity. Such areas should be avoided when choosing a room for your home office, as it can be difficult to remain productive if your connection to your office's external server is routinely compromised. Find an area where the wireless connection is always strong.

Distractions

While your home might be empty for much of the day, you don't want to be distracted when the kids come home from school or when your spouse or roommate arrives home from work. Avoid putting your home office too close to popular hangout areas in your home, such as the kitchen and the living room. Instead, choose a room where you have lots of privacy so you can focus on your work and won't be routinely interrupted.

Working from home can pay numerous dividends, but professionals who telework must put careful thought into the rooms or areas of their homes where they plan to work.

Spring HOME RENO GUIDE

CREATE KID-FRIENDLY SPACES AT HOME

Maintaining a home that is welcoming and kid-friendly can be challenging. Kids are full of energy and oftentimes put fun ahead of tidiness. But no matter how energetic their youngsters are, parents can still employ several strategies to ensure their homes are both sophisticated and child-friendly.

- Consider an open floor plan. Rooms that flow into one another make it easier to keep tabs on children. Such rooms also allow residents and guests to mingle in separate rooms but not be too far away from one another.

- Choose washable fabrics. Upholstery will need to stand up to the abuse kids can dish out. Sofas and chairs with slipcovers can be advantageous because many slipcovers can be easily removed and laundered. Patterned fabrics will hide some stains, while treated fabrics may resist liquid spills for easier cleanup.

- Create a catch-all spot. Special bins or other organizational tools in the entryway can help to cull clutter when children come in the house from school or play. Be sure the keep cubbies, containers and coat hooks at a child-friendly height.

- Look for high-traffic rugs. Rugs designed for high-traffic areas will be more forgiving when children march across them several times per day. There are no rules that say you can't bring an outdoor rug inside, and these rugs tend to be easier to clean.

- Ensure there is plenty of seating. Sectionals give children ample room to spread out. And ample seating ensures there is enough room for kids to invite their friends over to hang out.

- Think outside pink and blue. For children's rooms, make sure they're colorful, but consider other hues to give the rooms some personality. Focus on a hobby or activity and borrow the color scheme from the accessories used for decorating.

- Hang whimsical artwork. Employ framing and lighting to make kids' artwork look like professional pieces. Routinely change the pictures when a new look is desired.

- Designate a place for play. Devote an entire room or a nook in a house for imaginative play. Store toys here so these items will not create clutter in individual bedrooms.

Creating child-friendly spaces while ensuring a home maintains a sophisticated feel is easier than parents might think.

WHAT MATTERS TO YOU – EASTER

Submitted by MLA Shane Getson

Like many families over the last couple of years we have had to change our normal routines, and this spring, I for one am very happy to be able to return to some semblance of normal.

The trend lines are all heading the right way, and the last push to remove the remaining restrictions will be right around the corner. I am truly looking forward to taking a long Easter break, having family over for Easter dinner for the first time in 2 years, and an “Easter Egg Scavenger Hunt” with the kids and their cousins. I am sure that the Easter Bunny will have his hands full leaving treats in the most odd and unusual places for all the little ones out there, as he has for so many years.

We will be making the Ukrainian Easter eggs this weekend, they too have become a family tradition over the years. My wife’s cousin is an absolute artist when it comes to the traditional eggs and inspired the kids to do the same at home. It’s a toss up between my wife and eldest daughter having ability for fine detail and motor control of who produces the best traditional eggs.

This year I think the theme may take on a more serious tone however as we think about what is happening in Ukraine with the Russian invasion. One of my wife’s cousins is sponsoring a family member and her daughter to come live with them in Calgary, as she and her daughter find a safe place to be while the conflict runs its course, her husband stayed behind to fight. I have heard that many more families in our area, and across the province are doing the same for their friends and family from Ukraine.

Easter of course is more than the meals, the friends, family, the eggs. In the Christian faith, if not the most significant, a tie as to the most important miracle that took place involving Jesus Christ. Regardless of your beliefs the values of the Easter story resonate with all people, of holding true to your beliefs, your morals and principals, even in the face of persecution, having close friends turn on you, public shaming, and even death itself. The resolve that it took, to not take the easy way out or give in, and to stay the course for all the right reasons for others, how does that not tug at the soul.

I know that for far too many there are challenges, and that the days have seemed mighty dark indeed, some losing themselves, or just giving in to the pressures. In my position as an MLA, not only I hear these stories but so do my staff. We do what we can to help where we can, and when we can make a difference in someone's life to help them through a rough patch it is extremely rewarding and helps us remember why we are here. The negative things that come our way can take a toll, or when we are unable to help, it can be devastating, so we do all we can every time.

I would hope that over the next few months that we take the time to look out for one another as we come out of this dark period in our history, that we find ourselves and each other again, we reconnect, making the time to help each other. We may not agree on everything, on how we obtain our goals, or what the highest priority items are at any given time, but achieving the common goal, for the common good, is what we can agree on. When good people fail to act, that is only when the bad guys win. When we are divided, that is when we are at the ultimate risk of falling, and there have been way too many things out there to divide us over the last few years. Perhaps Easter is the right time to reflect on that, to heal, and work together for the common good again.

I will be working on putting together a youth panel from the ages of 16 to 20 and will include some "Old People" as well so that we can get into the root of some serious challenges that our youth and young adults are facing as we come out of the last of the "Pandemic Phase" regarding covid. I've heard from a number of people concerns over mental health, substance abuse issues, suicide attempts, and giving up on school. Frankly a number of our youth are losing hope for a bright future. There are a ton of good things that are just up ahead, we have some rough road ahead to be sure, but when we pull together, we can mitigate bouncing off into the ditch. As the MLA I've had the chance to chair a task force specifically for the development of Economic Corridors, that will act as a catalyst for the next fifty years of growth in the province, and I'm very much wanting to share that with our youth!

I'm looking for youth leaders (4-H, Sports, Youth Groups, Student Councils, etc.) who can help provide insight of what they and their peers are experiencing as challenges, and what they see as opportunities. I am also looking for "Old People" business leaders, community leaders, and of course our seniors who can listen, and to help provide insight into making the necessary changes needed so that we can get the message of hope back to our younger generations. We have some great success stories out there, with more on the horizon. I believe that there isn't a single success story that didn't have a failure first, or when they did make it, that they didn't succeed in vacuum devoid of inspiration, or mentoring.

From the bottom of my heart, wishing those that celebrate, a very Happy Easter, and for everyone else, all my best wishes for you to believe in something bigger, that there is hope out there despite all the setbacks, and that a miracle is just around the corner for you. You are not alone, and that who you are and what you do does matter. Your actions make an impact on more people that you will ever know, and they will need you for years to come.

SIT YOUR WAY TO A HEALTHY BACK

Submitted by Alberta Health Services

If you spend a lot of time in a chair for work, you may want to think about your posture. Slouching while sitting can cause short- and long-term back problems, but you don't need expensive gizmos and gadgets to fix the problem.

If you're sitting for a long time during the day, you may be noticing tightness and back pain. Slouching puts stress on your lower back. Slumping or slouching on its own may not cause low back pain, but after the back has been strained or injured, bad posture can make pain worse. When you sit, keep your shoulders back, keeping a slight curve in your lower back.

There are many ways to improve your sitting posture, not just while working. Good posture is helpful when driving, at the movie theatre, on the couch, or even out at a restaurant. Here are some tips and exercises to help you sit your way to a healthy back:

- Place a lumbar/foam roller in the curve of your back while you sit. Don't have a roller? A small pillow or rolled up towel works great.
- Ensure your chair is low enough to allow you to place both feet flat on the floor, with your knees slightly lower than your hips. If you are unable to set your chair lower, use a small footstool or even a book as a footstool to raise your knees.

- When driving, ensure your knees are nearly level with your hips by adjusting your seat closer or further from the wheel. Sit straight and upright with both hands on the wheel with your arms in a slightly flexed but comfortable position. Remember that lumbar roller? It works great here too. If your seat is angled back away from the steering wheel, create a horizontal surface using a travel cushion or triangle foam wedge.

- Set breaks for yourself to get up and move around a bit if you've been sitting for a long time. Do some quick stretches to loosen up your back before sitting again.

As always, talk to your doctor or physiotherapist if your back pain is more persistent or doesn't improve with posture. A healthy back is a happy back--and a happy you!

of the week

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!
