ALBERTA'S RECOVERY PLAN IS WORKING, AND THIS IS GREAT NEWS FOR ALL ALBERTANS

Submitted by Mark Smith, MLA for Drayton Valley

By balancing the budget, cutting taxes, and creating an environment that welcomes new investment, our United Conservative team is guiding Alberta towards lasting prosperity. This year, economic indicators suggest Alberta's economy will continue to recover and grow across a wide variety of industries and sectors.

What does this mean for everyday Albertans? It means our people are going back to work. Alberta currently has the highest employment rate in all of Canada, as well as the highest employment rate for women. Our province has not only restored all the jobs lost due to the pandemic but gained even more. In the past year, we have added 145,000 jobs. Investors are choosing Alberta again, with companies such as Amazon, Dow, HBO, Air Products, Northern Petrochemical, and Walmart investing billions in landmark projects across the province. The economic boom we are embarking upon will be different from ones from the past, with our government putting a strong focus on economic diversification, to build a strong and resilient economy for the future.

To further our diversification goals, this week, our government launched the Clean Hydrogen Centre of Excellence with a commitment of $50 million over four years. This will accelerate research and development of clean hydrogen technologies in our province and allow us to compete in the global hydrogen sector with made-in-Alberta solutions. This is a great opportunity for Alberta's energy sector in terms of investment, job creation, and emissions reduction.

Additionally, this week, our government is furthering our investments in the technology sector. Our government has invested $30 million over three years into Alberta's growing Artificial Intelligence sector. Artificial Intelligence, also known as AI, is an important part of our Alberta Technology and Innovation Strategy, and we are investing to accelerate and grow AI research, development, and expertise in the province. Alberta...

...has what it takes to continue to accelerate AI and commercialize solutions that can be applied in health care, smart agriculture, clean energy, manufacturing, and more. Alberta's technology sector is growing, with both Calgary and Edmonton in the top 50 cities in North America for technology growth. Our work and investments will help Alberta's technology sector become even stronger.

Learning Support Teachers Connect Through Professional Development

Priority 1: Student Learning

Priority 2: Teaching and Leadership Excellence

Submitted by GYPSD

After more than two years online, GYPSD's Learning Support Teachers recently came together to deepen their learning around Level B assessments. Learning Support Teachers or LSTs receive special training in a range of assessments to provide onsite services and resources to students needing specialized support. The LSTs work with Inclusive Learning Director Erin Murphy and Division Psychologist Crystal Virtanen to ensure students with special needs have the right resources and supports. Level B Assessments require formal training which is crucial to identify where a child's academic challenges may lie. Assessment levels B and C require specific qualifications.

For example, Level B Assessments require formal training in testing such as a master's level assessment course or specialized training geared towards standardized assessments. It was also an opportunity for the LSTs to reconnect and build their support/resource network throughout the Division.

Preparing for the Annual Principals' Planning Retreat Budget Review and Strategic Planning for the 2022-23 School Year.

Trustee Fowler (Edson), GYPSD's Board Representative for the Public School Boards' Association of Alberta shared the organization's professional learning role, and PS-BAA's recent support of a research paper, Changed Program Delivery in Response to the Pandemic: Impact on K-12 Education in Alberta School Divisions.

Board Chair Karpluk, GYPSD's Board Representative for the Alberta School Boards Association shared that the Edwin Parr Teaching Award recipients will be celebrated on May 27th; Deputy Superintendent Kastrinos is representing GYPSD and CASS by serving on the selection committee.

Community Engagement Board Chair Karpluk shared the Board's recent meeting with the newly elected Board of Evergreen Catholic Separate Schools, which has schools in Hinton, and a recent meeting she attended alongside other GYPSD trustees and senior administration with the Yellowhead County Mayor, councilors, and members of the Yellowhead County Library Board.

The Board of Trustees approved motions to:

explore a proposed grade reconfiguration of the two elementary schools in Hinton; request that the Minister of Education restate the fuel contingency fund (eliminated in 2014) to address unsustainable student transportation costs; and share concerns with the Minister of Education in regards to her expansion of Charter Schools in Alberta.

Use these helpful tips to help keep our community a safe, enjoyable place. Look around your home, school or office and see where you can make a difference.

- Set up buddy systems for teens going out after dark.
- Keep an eye out for strange vehicles parked in your area at odd hours or for long periods of time
- Make sure all young children know how to handle possible confrontations with strangers.

- Start teaching children at an early age how to avoid drugs and alcohol.
- Get children involved in organized after-school programs.
- Start, join or reactivate a neighborhood watch program.
- Be aware of your surroundings, especially when walking alone at night.
- Participate in forums which involve local officials, such as city council meetings.
- Reach out to crime victims, their families or others in the community who need support.
- Get to know your neighbors - you may find others with an interest in safety, too.
- Be familiar with members of your local police and fire departments.
- Make sure all street lights in your area are in working order. Alert local officials if they are not.

Roadside Vegetation Management Program

Spraying May to September

Yellowhead County's Agricultural Services Department will be spraying county roadsides from May to mid/late September. Spraying of roadsides is done to control the spread of prohibited noxious and noxious weeds and re-growth of small brush.

Herbicides to be used this upcoming season include:

Lontrel 360 - PCP #23545	2,4-D Amine - PCP #14726
Escort - PCP #23005	Milestone - PCP #28517
ClearView - PCP #29752	Navius Flex - PCP #30922
VP480 - PCP #28840	Esplanade - PCP #31333
Arsenal - PCP #23713	Roundup Weathermax - PCP #27487
Arsenal Powerline - PCP #30203	Roundup WeatherPRO - PCP #33653
Garlon RTU - PCP #29334	Killex - PCP #27801
Garlon XRT - PCP #28945	Hasten - PCP #28277

Some of these herbicides have residual characteristics so ratepayers should not be using roadside soil in their gardens.

If you have any questions about the program, please contact the Agricultural Services Department at 1-800-814-3935 or (780) 325-3782.

Weed Inspectors Are in your area this Summer

Please be advised that the Weed Inspectors based in the Wildwood County office will be out in full force documenting various invasive plants on both county and private lands. You may see a white county vehicle near your property and an inspector in a high visibility vest performing weed inspections so please be considerate of their safety.

Prohibited Noxious and Noxious Weeds Are:

- Difficult to control
- Have economic impacts
- Competitive in nature
- A threat to the environment
- A threat to agriculture
- Ability to be highly invasive

Grant Connect Database

Grant Connect has funding for health, arts, recreation, social services, environmental projects, community and economic development, agriculture, non-profit development and a wide variety of other topics.

Yellowhead County now has access to a national database of grants available to organizations and societies serving a wide variety of purposes. Funding includes Federal grants, provincial grants, philanthropic and corporate funding opportunities.

Running a non-profit organization is rewarding but at times difficult work. Include a pandemic, which may have significantly impacted a group's fundraising ability, and it is especially challenging now. The Grant Connect database can help you find those dollars, or identify funding for your next big project.

How does it work? If you are with a non-profit, you can call the office to set up an appointment to search the database with a staff member. Simple as that. And if you can't make it into the office, we can help you out over Zoom or a phone call.

Call 780-325-3782 and ask to speak with FCSS about the Grant Connect program, or wrobinson@yhcounty.ca to make an appointment.

GOLFER'S GUIDE

DRIVE HOME A WINNING GOLF TOURNAMENT

The arrival of warmer weather has many Canadians dreaming of the hitting the local golf course. It is also the time that many companies, organizations, charities and other groups start planning their golf tournaments.

Hosting a golf tournament is a great way to entertain customers, thank employees or raise funds for your group. While there are many details to arrange, organizing such an event doesn't have to be distressing.

Experts recommend that you cover the basics first. Picking the right date and a course that is suitable for your group is the first priority. The earlier you do this the better as you will get a wider selection of dates and courses.

Ensuring your guests are well fed and hydrated out on the course should be another priority. In the heat of summer, a good supply food and non-alcoholic beverages will ensure your participants enjoy a healthy and safe round.

What about prizes? The excitement of winning something is always a big draw, so hit up local businesses, suppliers, business partners and friends for prize donations.

To take your tournament to the next level, you could offer hole-in-one prizes such as a car, boat, trips or cash. "Adding big prizes to your golf tournament doesn't have to be an expensive or worrisome endeavour," says Andrea Martin, Senior Underwriting Manager, Wayfarer Insurance. "You can get insurance coverage that will pay for the prize in the event that a golfer hits an ace."

One of the biggest tips is speak to the professionals at the golf course where you book your tournament. Often courses will have staff to assist you, or at least literature that will help you plan a successful event.

WHY HONEYBEES NEED PROTECTION

Honeybees flitting from flower to flower is one of the first signs that warm weather has arrived. Honeybees are a welcome presence in the garden, pollinating plants and contributing to local honey supplies. Despite their importance in the ecosystem, honeybees are in grave danger. In 2014, U.S. President Barack Obama created a task force comprised of various agencies to address the growing issue of rapidly diminishing honeybees and other pollinating insects. This initiative was a response to reports from American beekeepers indicating hive deaths have been on the rise, gravely affecting the honeybee population. Honeybees pollinate many fruit trees, nut plants and vegetables, playing a crucial role for many nations' food industries. In addition to government involvement and honeybee conservation methods designed by environmental agencies, there are many things that regular citizens and homeowners can do to protect honeybees this summer. The Environmental Protection Agency and the Pesticide Action Network offer these tips.

- Use caution when applying any pesticides to home gardens. Be especially cautious when applying pesticides when bees are likely to be flying. If you must apply pesticides, do so only after dusk.

- Stagger your planting throughout the growing season. Rather than planting everything at once, stagger planting for flowers and other plants that have blooms. This gives bees plenty of pollen sources throughout early summer and into fall.
- Provide clean sources of water. A small garden feature or a rainwater collection is enough to provide bees with a drink when needed.
- Honeybees and other bees require some sort of shelter. Dead trees and plants provide adequate shelter, so don't be so tempted to pull out all of the undergrowth in the name of aesthetics.

- Plant a garden that will attract bees. If you come across a hive, leave it alone. It's best not to disturb a hive and honeybee colony. If bees are located where they can become a nuisance, contact a local bee expert to see if the hive can be moved.
- Think about becoming a beekeeper yourself. There are many different resources available to help you get started. Bees are being threatened at an alarming rate. Educating yourself about what to do to protect honeybees can help to restore the valuable honeybee population.

BULLYING

Tips for Dealing With Bullying

- 1) Take complaints of bullying seriously. Do not dismiss your child or expect your child to work through the situation alone.
- 2) Praise your child for reporting bullying situations to you and assure your child you will take action.
- 3) Talk to your child's teacher, counselor, or other caregiver about reports of bullying.
- 4) Work together to address the bullying situation. Don't confront the parents of the bully directly.
- 5) Ask your child specific questions about how your child is treated by peers, who he or she eats lunch with, and how other children are treated.
- 6) Teach your child to be assertive. Your child should be able to express feelings and needs clearly, without shouting or other aggressive behavior.

- 7) Provide opportunities for your child to make friends. Identify some of your child's interests and encourage your child to pursue them through sports, clubs, or other group activities.
- 8) Teach your child to identify bullying behaviors. These include hitting, damaging possessions, threatening, name calling, & excluding someone

TIPS TO STOP SCHOOLYARD BULLYING

- Take it seriously. It's easy to say, "Kids will be kids" and assume it will pass. But if your child is coming home upset and is suddenly anxious about school because of the way a kid (or kids) are treating him, you should pay attention.
- Drop your kid off at school or stand on the sidelines during recess. Bullying tends to occur when adult supervision is lacking, so before school or on the playground at recess.
- Talk to other parents. Young kids are talkers. If you're friendly with a parent in your kid's class, ask them if their child has mentioned anything about kids being picked on at school.
- Tell the teacher. It's really important to let your child's teacher know what your kid is telling you -- especially if someone is getting hit.
- Empower your children. Let your kids know that it's not their fault that they are being bullied. Teach your kids to focus on their own behavior.

PCHS HOSTS BADMINTON TOURNAMENT

Submitted by GYPSD

Parkland Composite High School (PCHS) has proudly hosted the West Conference Senior Badminton tournament for nearly 15 years and was thrilled to host it once again on April 13, 2022. There were nine high schools in attendance from as far away as Breton in the east, to Hinton in the west; 153 players attended 190 matches in three schools: Parkland, École Pine Grove, and Mary Bergeron Elementary. Special congratulations go out to Pacers JB Rivera, Zac Lyda, and Kyla Drader for being undefeated at the conference.

This tournament was a huge undertaking and it would not have been possible without a great deal of help. First, PCHS offers a huge 'thank you' out to head coach Dwayne Shepherd and assistant coaches, Matt Mayner, Nathan Corner, and Himmat Singh. Second, PCHS teachers Kevin Andersen and Kevin Dye worked tirelessly to ensure that the tournament went smoothly. Rebekah Gullason also helped with the Tuesday night planning marathon and Bill Dick who assisted with planning and supervising. A final shout out to both Pine Grove and Mary Bergeron for being gracious hosts to the athletes in their gyms.

Parkland had 14 players qualify for the Zones Tournament in Edmonton on April 20th, the most out of all nine schools. Unfortunately, due to weather conditions, the students were unable to get to the tournament.

TALKING WITH YOUR KIDS ABOUT ALCOHOL

Submitted by Alberta Health Services

Talking with your kids about alcohol doesn't have to be uncomfortable.

When you take the time to have a conversation, and you are open to hearing what your child has to say, you are giving your child or teen the guidance they need to make healthy decisions.

Here are some tips to start a conversation about alcohol:

- Encourage questions and listen well to what your kids have to say to you
- Be brief and neutral when explaining the facts
- Try to understand your child's point of view.

By respecting one another's views, you will encourage future conversations and you'll encourage your kids to come to you with questions.

PERFORMANCE REVIEWS

Submitted by MLA Shane Getson

I firmly believe that people need to have performance reviews to know how they are doing, what is working, and what needs to be worked on to continue to grow. It is just as important that two-way communication exists, and that feedback is provided both ways. The organization benefits when this happens, as it makes for stronger individuals.

Kids have report cards, grownups have performance reviews.

The best reviews are formalized, have a set frequency, allow for specific categories to be addressed, and give both parties a measuring stick for success over a given time. The biggest disservice to the individual receiving the performance review, and for the one providing the review, is to be overly critical or to simply sugarcoat things.

Over the years I've had my fair share of performance reviews, and I've given many of them as well. I can't say that I've enjoyed them all, but I can say that they were always very beneficial for the organization, as well as for my own personal growth. When I was in organizations that lacked a formal process, I found myself craving the structure of a performance review. To me nothing is worse than working hard on something and finding out later that it was not meeting expectations, or to discover that you are doing something really counterproductive, and in turn detrimental to the team or organization. In nearly all cases I've found that people value their time at work, and would rather receive a correction, than to be wasting their time. Most people want to grow, and to know that they are contributing to something bigger and better than themselves as individuals.

So, with this background, I struggle to understand all of the concerns surrounding a particular leadership review.

Why has it become hyper-polarized? Why has it become so emotional?

Is it important? Absolutely. Should people participate in the process if they are able? Absolutely. Is the world going to come to a screeching halt if there is a less than favorable review? Not a chance.

There is a strong group of people that have been elected, and several likely leaders should a change be required. Is there going to be sunshine and rainbow gumdrops falling from the sky if there is a largely favorable review? Highly unlikely. There will always be challenges to overcome, as there is a general election on the horizon only 11 months down the road.

What will be most meaningful for those that take part in this leadership review is to create a few categories of measurement, and within these categories give a threshold for success or failure. Some will be weighted higher than others, depending on your personal value system. Tabulate your pass vs. fail areas and see what the result is, for this particular ballot, either a yes or a no. As I've said, I've performed a number of these over the years, and what works for some may not work for others; when it comes to an honest review, taking the emotion out of the process seems to work best.

I do believe that in the political world, trust is a major factor. We as voters put an exorbitant amount of trust into elected individuals to represent our best interests for a long duration without us personally being there to check up on them. It is imperative to make sure that you do what you can to get to know who is running, find out what they stand for (not just the party platform) and stay engaged after they are elected. Make sure that they do the same: that they are constantly engaged, and that if there is a position change that they do indeed give valid reasons why. Through the representative process, you may not agree with all the decisions, but you need to know that you can respect and trust that the decisions are being made in the best interest of the people. If you don't feel this way, throw a flag on the play.

So, when it comes to the leadership review that is currently taking place, it is important that there is an honest feedback loop, and that it is truly representative of the performance of our leadership over the last few years. The largest disservice is to keep telling the Emperor that his new cloak is the best thing ever, while he parades in the street with barely a stitch on, or to throw stones because you may not like his choice of hat on a particular day.

I believe the best way to stay plugged into what folks are thinking is to be able to meet in person. I am a big fan of face-to-face meetings, town halls and local events. Folks need to hear what their neighbors have to say, and to be able to see things from another's perspective. Over the last few years, we all have been stretched thin, pulled in different directions, and sometimes even turned on each other based on differing decisions, or on which way the narrative was blowing that week.

I'm not asking people to forget everything, as there is a pile of 'lessons learned' to consider, so that we can make changes in legislation to ensure mistakes are not repeated. I also want to highlight the good things that happened as well, so we can ensure that those continue to flourish going forward. I'll strive to do what I can, with the time I have left, and the resources I have at my disposal, to make our slice of God's Country a better place; and to do that, I'll need you to stay engaged. Please keep indicating what is a priority to you and keep on giving me my performance reviews.

What Collection Agencies Can And Cannot Do

This tipsheet is intended to provide general information and is not a substitute for legal advice.

Business usually try to collect their unpaid accounts first by sending reminder notices. If the bills are still not paid, often the accounts are turned over to a collection agency.

Collection agencies are usually paid a percentage of the debts they collect. They make money when they get people to pay and often more persistent and demanding than the business who hired them.

Collection agencies appear to be very powerful. Actually, they do not have any more authority to collect debts than any other business. The creditor gives them all the authority to collect debts. In most cases, the final decision about how the debt is handled is made by the creditor, not the collection agency.

Who has to follow these rules?

The Fair Trading Act and the Collection Practices Regulation apply to companies and people working for them who are in the business of collection debts or locating debtors for others. The Act requires all collection agencies and the collectors working for them to be licensed. The Act and regulation provide some protection from abusive collection practices. The Act and regulation do not apply to business or people collecting a debt for a client, a civil enforcement bailiff or agency while seizing security, and people working while licensed under the Insurance Act.

That's what it takes to help prevent crime. During Crime Prevention Week, do what you can to keep your home, neighborhood and workplace safe.

When away from home for extended periods:

Install timers on a few inside and outside lights.

Hold mail and newspaper delivery or donate it to a school or hospital.

Have a trusted friend or neighbor look after your home.

Around the house:

Do not leave tools or ladders outside your home.

Make sure external doors and frames are sturdy. Steel or 1 3/8"-thick wood is preferable.

Installing a security system can add extra protection against crime, fire or accidents.

In the neighborhood:

Join a neighborhood watch committee, and ask local law enforcement for assistance.

Get to know your neighbors. It will instill a sense of community and help everyone feel safer.

Report any suspicious neighborhood activity to the police.

SUDOKU

of the week

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!
