SERENITY FAMILY SERVICE SOCIETY - YOUR NOT-FOR-PROFIT SOCIETY

Against his better judgment, the big game hunter is talked into taking both his wife AND her mother along on one of his expeditions. It does not go well. The mother-in-law is, if anything, harder to get along with in the wilds than she was in the city. And to make matters worse, she won't even abide by the simple camp rules designed to keep the safari safe. One night after dinner, the hunter's wife realizes her mother is missing. Panicked, she rushes to her husband and begs him to institute a search. He sighs, and together they set out. But before they've gone far, they hear throaty growling. Soon they come upon a small clearing in which the mother-in-law stands, backed up against thick, seemingly impenetrable jungle brush, and facing a huge male lion. The wife whispers urgently, "What are we going to do?" 'Nothing whatsoever,' responds her husband. The lion got himself into this mess, now let him get himself out of it."

Government has no greater duty than keeping people safe – especially children and youth.

When it comes to protecting Albertans from harm, ending human trafficking is a critical priority for our United Conservative government.

Human trafficking is a serious crime that exploits people of all ages and genders. It destroys lives and causes generational trauma. But fighting human trafficking can be challenging, as victims are often forced into silence and secrecy.

In order to effectively fight human trafficking in our province, our United Conservative government created the Human Trafficking Task Force. Chaired by Canadian Country Music Hall of Fame artist and internationally recognized humanitarian Paul Brandt, the Human Trafficking Task Force consisted of passionate Albertans who are dedicated to fighting human trafficking and supporting survivors. The Human Trafficking Task Force presented our government with a series of recommendations, designed to prevent and combat human trafficking and support human trafficking survivors in our province. We have accepted and are moving to implement those recommenda-

The first recommendation we are moving on is to invest $4 million over two years to establish the Alberta Office to Combat Trafficking in Persons. This office will facilitate the implementation of the remaining Human Trafficking Task Force recommendations. Organizations such as #NotInMyCity, Native Counselling Services of Alberta, and REACH Edmonton Council for Safer Communities will help setup and operate this office as community partners. Their support will be invaluable in connecting survivors and victims of human trafficking to important supports and services that will help them heal and recover from their experiences.

The Alberta Office to Combat Trafficking in Persons will also work to enhance public awareness and establish a more effective data collection process. This data will monitor the effectiveness of service delivery and help close the gaps in tracking cross-jurisdictional human trafficking incidents.

In response to this investment, Mr. Brandt recently said, "This milestone wouldn't be possible without the countless organizations and individuals who shared their experiences and expertise in our journey with Alberta's Human Trafficking Task Force. Combating human trafficking requires collective action, and we applaud the province for taking a collaborative approach with the community."

Our United Conservative government remains committed to fighting human trafficking in every corner of the province. Human trafficking is a serious crime that violates the freedoms and rights of individuals, including children and youth, and attempts to destroy all personal identity and relationships. No community in Alberta is immune to the scourge of human trafficking, and we must all work together to prevent and combat this heinous crime.

As Premier Danielle Smith recently said, "We can't afford to close our eyes to the problem of human trafficking. And we can't afford to ignore those who are at risk of being trafficked or those who have been trafficked.

I'm proud that our government is creating this Office to Combat Trafficking in Persons to keep fighting this scourge on society."

HIGHER CIVIL CLAIMS LIMIT NOW IN EFFECT

Submitted by Government of Alberta

As of August 1, Albertans can represent themselves more effectively in civil claims court matters and save time and money on legal costs.

To make the civil claims process simpler and more cost effective, Albertans can now file civil claims of up to $100,000 in the Alberta Court of Justice. This change is an increase from the previous limit of $50,000 and the first time in nine years that Alberta's government has increased the civil claims limit. Albertans will continue to have the option to pursue their civil claim at the Court of King's Bench of Alberta.

This will make the civil claims process easier for Albertans to navigate compared to the Court of King's Bench of Alberta. The Alberta Court of Justice currently handles about 10,000 civil claims annually. It is highly accessible to Albertans, with 72 locations across the province.

"This increase to the civil claims limit will make the justice system more affordable and accessible for Albertans. Our government is committed to a more effective justice system in Alberta and this is another positive step in that direction."

Mickey Amery, Minister of Justice and Attorney General

The higher civil claims limit will free up time in the Court of King's Bench of Alberta, as it means more matters can be heard in the Alberta Court of Justice.

"The Alberta Court of Justice has grown and evolved to meet the changing needs of Albertans. This increase reflects that evolution and our increased capacity as a forum for resolving civil disputes. This change empowers the court to handle a broader range of civil cases, easing the burden on higher courts and reducing delays in the judicial process."

- Park larger vehicles in front of your OHV to block it from being easily moved.
- Secure OHVs outside with a lock and chain. Cover vehicles with a tarp, and keep them away from the main roads. Out of sight, out of mind!

- For extra protection, keep outdoor lights on at night.
- If you are storing your OHV for a long period of time, consider removing the fuse, deflating the tires, and emptying the gas tank.
- Keep track of serials numbers, along with photos, of your recreational vehicles should a theft occur.

- If you're OHV doesn't already have one, consider installing a GPS tracking system. Follow us on Twitter (@RC-MPAlberta) and Facebook (@RCMPinAlberta) for crime prevention tips this month to keep your OHVs safe so you can enjoy them all season long!

Reminder, OHVs are not permitted for use during fire bans. Exhaust systems can heat up to temperatures over 200 degrees Celsius. Debris falling from OHVs can heat up and smoulder, eventually igniting and creating a wildfire.

Someone may choose to drink plant-based beverages because of allergies, vegetarian diet, intolerance to cow milk, or cultural or personal taste preferences. These beverages look like milk and are often called "milks" but the nutrients they provide may be different.

Plant-based beverages are made from legumes, nuts, seeds and grains, such as oat, soy, coconut, cashew or almond.

Guide to choosing a plantbased beverage

With so many options, it is important to pick a plant-based beverage that meets your nutrition needs. Read the Nutrition Facts table on beverages before you buy and then select a beverage that:

- Is unsweetened or has less than 15 per cent Daily Value (less than 15 g) of sugar per one cup (250 mL).
- Has at least six grams of protein per one cup (250 mL).
- Has at least 23 per cent Daily Value of calcium per one cup (250 mL).
- Has more than 10 per cent Daily Value of vitamin D per one cup (250 mL).

Read the ingredient list to see if vitamins and minerals have been added to the drink. If they have been added, the drink has been fortified. This information usually appears on the ingredient list as "Vitamin and Mineral Blend."

If you choose plant-based beverages, serving advice is as follows:

Children under the age of two Plant-based beverages do not contain enough fat, calories and nutrients to help children's brains and bodies grow and develop. Feed your child breastmilk or infant formula.

For others

• Offer two cups of a fortified plant-based beverage daily to children aged two and up.

• Older adults can meet their needs with one to two cups of a fortified plant-based beverage while also eating other protein foods as part of their diet.

• Two cups of a fortified plant-based beverage and a daily vitamin D supplement of 400 IU will help meet your nutrient needs when pregnant. In addition to selecting a nutritious plant-based beverage, choose a variety of protein foods at meals and snacks. Try beans, lentils, tofu, eggs, nuts and seed butter, fish, poultry, and lean meats.

WHAT IS PROSTATE CANCER?

Submitted by Alberta Health Service

Prostate cancer is the abnormal growth of cells in a man's prostate gland. The prostate sits just below the bladder. In young men, the prostate is about the size of a walnut. As men age, the prostate usually grows larger.

Prostate cancer is common in men older than 65. It usually grows slowly and can take years to grow large enough to cause any problems. As with other cancers, treatment for prostate cancer works best when the cancer is found early.

Experts don't know what causes prostate cancer, but they believe that your age, family history (genetics), and race affect your chances of getting it.

What are the symptoms?

Prostate cancer usually doesn't cause symptoms in its early stages. Most men don't know they have it until it is found during a regular medical examination.

When problems are noticed, they are most often problems with urinating. But these same symptoms can also be caused by an enlarged prostate (benign prostatic hyperplasia). An enlarged prostate is common in older men.

How is prostate cancer diagnosed?

The most common way to check for prostate cancer is to have a prostate-specific antigen (PSA) blood test. PSA tests can help find some prostate cancers early, when the cancer may be easier to treat. A large study of prostate cancer screening showed that PSA testing may prevent a small number of deaths from prostate cancer.

A higher level of PSA may mean that you have prostate cancer. But it could also mean that you have an enlargement or infection of the prostate.

If your PSA is high, you may need a prostate biopsy to figure out the cause. A biopsy means that your doctor takes tissue samples from your prostate gland and sends them to a lab for testing.

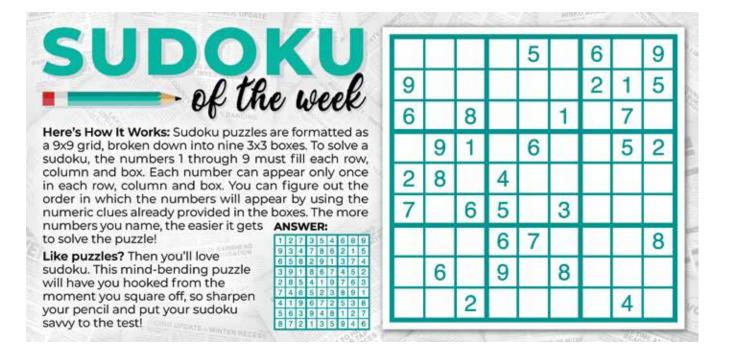

How is prostate cancer treat-

Your treatment will depend on what kind of cancer cells you have, how far they have spread, your age and general health, and your preferences.

You and your doctor may decide to manage your cancer with active surveillance or to treat it with surgery or radiation.

If you are over age 80 or have other serious health problems, like heart disease, you may choose not to have treatments to cure your cancer. Instead, you can just have treatments to manage your symptoms. This is called watchful waiting.

Choosing treatment for prostate cancer can be confusing. Talk with your doctor to choose the treatment that's best for you. You may also wish to call Health Link at 811 to speak with a Registered nurse.
