GRANTS GIVE ALBERTA NON-PROFITS A SCORING CHANCE

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Alberta's government is supporting 271 non-profit organizations to upgrade, expand, renovate and build new community spaces.

Through the Community Facility Enhancement Program (CFEP), Alberta's government provides funding for community groups to invest in facilities that support art, culture, heritage, sport and recreation. This in turn ensures that Albertans can access the programs and services they are looking for close to home. For every CFEP grant dollar invested in a community, up to $3 is raised in the community. In the 2023-24 fiscal year, Alberta's government is investing more than $42 million in communities through CFEP.

“Investments in key spaces in our communities not only support new activities and programming but uplift residents and build stronger communities. Our government's investment recognizes the critical role we can play in enhancing local community spaces where many Albertans come together, from hockey rinks and playgrounds to libraries and museums.”

Tanya Fir, Minister of Arts,

Culture and Status of Women

The Sturgeon Hockey Club is one of the many community organizations receiving support in 2023-2024. Each year, the Sturgeon Hockey Club serves Legal and area citizens, providing them with the opportunity to play the good old hockey game that so many Albertans love.

Alberta's government is proud to provide the assist to the Sturgeon Hockey Club and looks forward to seeing what work and services the staff and volunteers at the hockey club will be able to create with this investment. A $1 million grant from CFEP will go to improving the Legal Arena, a focal project for local youth and sports.

“The Sturgeon Hockey Club is very excited for the planned improvements that are slated for the Legal Arena. The Legal Arena is critical to the success and longevity of the Sturgeon Hockey Club, and these improvements will make a huge impact for not only the children and families of the Sturgeon Hockey Club but for the entire region. We can't thank the Alberta government enough for awarding the hockey club this grant.”

Gene Connors, president, Sturgeon Hockey Club

“The Town of Legal would like to sincerely thank the Sturgeon Hockey Club and the Government of Alberta for their ongoing support in making the Legal Arena Complex possible. The town's retrofit project is more than just a community enhancement project, it is breathing life back into the recreational facility at the heart of our community! We would like to acknowledge the partnerships with organizations like Sturgeon Hockey and the Government of Alberta that improve the quality of life for our families, community and region.”

Trina Jones, mayor, Town of Legal

“As the MLA for Morinville-St.Albert, I have witnessed first-hand the profound impact of the Legal Arena and the Sturgeon Hockey Club on my constituents. Serving as a cornerstone of our community, the hockey club offers countless hockey enthusiasts the chance to engage in this remarkable sport. The rehabilitation of the Legal Arena will not only extend a warm welcome to more Albertans in the charming town of Legal but also invigorate the local economy in the region.”

Dale Nally, MLA for Morin-

ville-St.Albert

CFEP funds a variety of facility enhancement projects across the province, including 41 projects that support the construction or redevelopment of public playgrounds. Additionally, funding from this year's program will support new or expanded facilities for organizations like the Crowsnest Historical Society, Friends Society of the Sir Alexander Galt Museum and Archives, the Bower Place Community Association and the Village of Nampa Library Board. These organizations, and many more, provide meaningful programming for Albertans of all ages and backgrounds.

“Investing in community recreation infrastructure binds communities together, builds community spirit and provides new opportunities for residents and our youth to get active in sports. These rehabilitation projects across the province create economic growth by helping spur the desire for Albertans to visit new areas of the province, whether it's for a hockey tournament or a weekend getaway.”

Joseph Schow, Minister of Sport and Tourism

NAVIGATING AN INTERFAITH WEDDING

Celebrating family histories and traditions is a major component of weddings. During a wedding, two families come together and begin to merge their unique takes on life.

When couples tying the knot come from the same cultural or religious backgrounds, fitting the pieces together may be relatively easy. However, when a wedding must incorporate two different religions - each with its specific traditions and requirements - a couple may not know where to start. These tips may help the process along.

Communication

It is important to open a dialogue with all involved parties at the onset to be able to craft a ceremony and subsequent celebration that aligns with the faiths of the couple and their families. This dialogue shares what everyone expects. Ask everyone to rank the rituals they would like to be included by order of importance, and then use this as a guide when planning the ceremony.

Discuss options

Certain houses of worship may be strict in regard to what they allow during interfaith ceremonies. Conservative congregations may even frown upon marrying outside of one's religion. That may spark an entirely new conversation about converting so couples can be married in the eyes of the church, temple or mosque. More reformed places may be open to blending certain traditions from both faiths. Couples often lean toward having one officiant from each faith at the ceremony to incorporate key rites into the wedding.

Neutral ground

Interfaith couples may opt to have the ceremony at a neutral location so they do not appear to be paying favor to one faith over another. Determine if religious officiants can oversee the ceremony outside of a place of worship and still have the marriage recognized by the tenets of that faith.

Secular officiant

In instances when it may seem like there are too many obstacles to having faith-guided ceremonies for interfaith weddings, wedding planners may suggest some creative solutions, including working with a secular officiant. Traditions such as lighting a unity candle or blending two different sands together to signify the blending of two faiths and families can be part of the ceremony, suggests the lifestyle company Sheerluxe.

Give others tasks

Couples may be unfamiliar with each other's religious traditions. Sharing faith-specific wedding planning tasks can help couples and their families become more familiar with these customs.

Interfaith weddings require extra planning and finesse, but millions of couples get married in such ceremonies every year.

7 WEDDING TRICKS TO MAKE THE BIG DAY EASIER

Wedding planning is no small task. From sending out engagement announcements to gifting guests with take-home favors, a couple will pour over scores of details as they plan their weddings.

As if selecting a photographer or choosing the right passed appetizers isn't challenging enough, some unknown variables are sure to pop up on the big day as well. Couples can take their cues from others who have walked the aisle before them with these tricks of the trade, which may help couples' wedding days go smoothly.

1. Host everything at a single location. Couples who want to simplify their wedding day can select a site that can host the ceremony and reception and also house guests. The cost of such facilities may be more affordable than couples think, as transportation costs will be minimal and the venue may offer discounts on group packages.

2. Think about a day coordinator. Couples who cannot afford a wedding planner to handle all of the details often find that a day-of-service provider is within their budget. This person can handle all of the details of the wedding day so brides and grooms can fully immerse themselves in the festivities.

3. Bring extra cash. Unexpected expenses may pop up. Couples may have to feed an extra member of the band or a guest who was able to get a babysitter at the last minute. Brides and grooms may want to offer a bigger tip than anticipated to the waitstaff or deejay who went above and beyond.

4. Learn how to bustle. Walking around with a free-flowing train all day can become tiring for brides. Brides should make sure that one person practices how to bustle the train and will step in to do so for the reception. Also, it may not be the height of fashion, but having a garbage bag on hand can keep the train clean during inclement weather, or if the bride has to trek across grass or soil for photo opportunities.

5. Give an outgoing person a job. Enlist a boisterous friend or family member to wrangle guests for photo opportunities. He or she can be the photographer's helper and give the happy couple one less thing to do.

6. Stock the bathroom. Some venues will have courtesy items for their guests, but couples also should bring their own necessities, such as breath mints, toothpaste, extra pantyhose, hairspray, lip gloss, and/or sanitary pads.

7. Be all smiles. Couples can't predict everything that will happen on their wedding day, but they can help create the mood. Smiling couples can make things better for everyone, even when zippers break or someone gets the chicken instead of the salmon.

IF MY CHILD IS WITNESSING BULLYING:

- Explore the different options for your child to stand up against bullying
- Educate your child to intervene immediately to stop the bullying, but to get an adult to help with the intervention if it's unsafe to act without an adult present
- Approach the person being bullied to provide support
- Explain the difference between "tattling" on someone as opposed to reporting in order to stop someone from getting hurt
- Encourage your child to come up with creative ways to intervene in a bullying situation, such as changing the subject or starting a game

INTERNATIONAL MENTORING DAY: MINISTER TURTON

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Minister of Children and Family Services Searle Turton issued the following statement recognizing International Mentoring Day:

“Mentors do so much to help young people build confidence and develop the skills they need for a bright future. Many children in care are without role models, but having just one positive influence can give them a consistent sense of belonging when they most need to feel connected to their communities and put them on a path to making better, healthier life choices.

“Mentoring strengthens social skills, builds confidence and helps increase school attendance. Students benefit from becoming mentors themselves while supporting and guiding younger students through Career and Technology Studies mentoring credits and reading buddies. With the support of a mentor, young people are better able to stay focused in school, build promising careers and succeed despite challenging circumstances. Mentoring also fosters long-lasting relationships that will make a positive impact on both children and families for generations to come.

“Alberta’s government is proud to invest more than $1.3 million in mentoring each year, including $250,000 for the Alberta Mentorship Partnership, which works with school authorities and community organizations like Big Brothers Big Sisters and BGC Canada to connect mentors with young Albertans looking for long-term support and guidance.

“I want to thank the thousands of caring Albertans whose mentorship helps children and youth navigate every aspect of their lives. I encourage all Albertans to become mentors by volunteering in their schools, workplaces and communities.”

ALBERTA WOMAN STUNNED BY $100K EXTRA WIN!

Submitted by Western Canada Lottery Corporation

“It just feels awesome!” Paula Huckerby is one of several Albertans who have recently seen “winner” flash across their mobile screen while checking LOTTO 6/49 tickets. The Leduc local won a cool $100,000 on the December 27 EXTRA draw.

Huckerby says she buys her tickets every Saturday as part of her regular routine and was not expecting to see her Lotto Spot app light up with the win.

“The first people I told were my parents,” she said while claiming her prize. “We were all stunned!”

The winner is still tossing ideas around about how to spend the new windfall.

“This will definitely help with savings for retirement!” she said. “It just feels awesome. It’s amazing, really.”

Huckerby purchased her LOTTO 6/49 and EXTRA ticket for $10 from High End Husky located at 102 South-fork Drive in Leduc. She won her prize by matching the last six digits of the EXTRA draw on December 27-1741439.

The February 14 LOTTO 6/49 Gold Ball Jackpot is an estimated $46 million! Tickets for the draw are available until 8:30 pm MT on the night of the draw at all Lotto Spot locations, Play Alberta, and the Lotto Spot app.

Leduc RCMP are asking for the public’s help to identify the unknown male in relation to this investigation.

PROPOSED WASTE BYLAW CHANGES AIM TO IMPROVE WASTE DIVERSION IN LEDUC

Submitted by City of Leduc

The City of Leduc is considering an updated waste bylaw that would require all multi-unit dwellings in the city to have organic and recycling services by Jan. 1, 2026. The proposed changes passed first reading at City Council on Feb. 5 and will align with the upcoming Extended Producer Responsibility regulation.

To prepare for these changes, the City developed a Multi-unit Sector Waste Diversion Program in 2023 to support property owners who may be required to expand waste collection services in their buildings.

Public engagement was conducted last year with property owners and waste haulers to consider their perspective on the current state of waste diversion and anticipated challenges. Their feedback, which was generally positive and highlighted the need for transition support, was integrated into the new program.

“The proposed bylaw changes support our commitment to environmental preservation,” says Shawn Olson, Director of Engineering and Environment in the City of Leduc. “With more of the community working together to sort organics and recycling out of their household waste, we will send less waste to the landfill overall and preserve it’s lifespan.”

If the amended Waste Bylaw is approved, property managers would have an opportunity to:

- Seek guidance from City staff to prepare their property for the changes
 - Receive educational material from the City to share with building residents
 - Have a two-year period to renegotiate waste hauling contracts
- The proposed bylaw changes also recommend new fine amounts to support compliance:
- Multi-unit buildings that do not meet the Jan. 1, 2026, timeline ($250); and,
 - Households that improperly dispose of waste, such as containments in green carts ($100).

In June 2023, the City began to use artificial intelligence (AI) technology to scan for contaminants in green organics carts and educate specific households about proper waste sorting before their next collection date. The program has successfully sent over 900 postcards to households between June 2023 and January 2024. We are seeing organic cart contamination rates have dropped from roughly 20 per cent to below 10 per cent. The City has extended the program to the end of 2024 and continues to focus on education with potential enforcement for repeating offences.

The second and third reading of the Waste Bylaw is scheduled to take place on March 4, 2024.
