A ghost had been staying in a bed and breakfast hotel and when he came down for dinner he asked the waitress,

"Please can I have two eggs, one tough and one rubbery, really tough bacon and burned, fried bread?"

The waitress said, "Sir, we really can't serve that kind of horrid food here."

The ghost replied, "Well, you did yesterday!"

These projects include, but are not limited to, developing a guided walking tour, planning and running weekly children's activities, and advanced research skills. Through these examples, students learned what it takes to keep a museum in pristine condition through maintenance and grounds work, while also learning how to enhance the visit of anyone walking through the doors.

This summer employment opportunity is a well-rounded and educational experience for everyone involved, teaching and

CYANOBACTERIA (BLUE-GREEN ALGAE) ADVISORY ISSUED FOR PADDLE RIVER DAM

Submitted by Alberta Health Services

Cyanobacteria (blue-green algae) has been identified in the waters of Paddle River Dam at the Paddle River Dam Provincial Recreation Area. Residents living near the shores of this lake, as well as visitors to this lake, are advised to take the following precautions:

- Avoid all contact with cyanobacterial blooms. If contact occurs, wash with tap water as soon as possible.
- Do not swim or wade or allow your pets to swim or wade in any areas where cyanobacteria is visible.
- Do not feed whole fish or fish trimmings from this lake to your pets.

- Consider limiting human consumption of whole fish and fish trimmings from this lake, as it is known that fish may store toxins in their liver. (People can safely consume fish filets from this lake).

As always, visitors and residents are reminded to never drink or cook with untreated water directly from any recreational body of water, including Paddle River Dam, at any time. Boiling of this water will not remove the toxins produced by cyanobacteria. An alternate source of drinking water should also be provided for pets and livestock, while this advisory is active.

Cyanobacteria is naturally occurring, and often becomes visible when weather conditions are calm. Appearing like scum, grass clippings, fuzz, or globs on the surface of water, cyanobacteria can be blue-green, greenish-brown, brown, and/or pinkish-red, and often smell musty or grassy.

People who come in contact with visible cyanobacteria or who ingest water containing cyanobacteria may experience skin irritation, rash, sore throat, sore red eyes, swollen lips, fever, nausea and vomiting and/or diarrhea. Symptoms usually appear within one to three hours and resolve in one to two days. Symptoms in children are often more pronounced; however, all humans are at risk of these symptoms. Exposure to the bacteria may be fatal to pets.

Weather and wind conditions can cause algae blooms to move from one location in the lake to another. As such, this advisory will remain in effect for Paddle River Dam, until further notice.

Please note that waters of Paddle River Dam in which the cyanobacterial bloom is NOT visible can still be used for recreational purposes, even while this Health Advisory is in place.

If you suspect a problem related to cyanobacteria or if you require further information on health concerns and cyanobacteria, please call Health Link at 811. Additional information is also available online, at www.ahs.ca/bga.

WHITECOURT TOWN COUNCIL UPDATE

Submitted by Whitecourt Town Council

After an extensive review process, and numerous public consultation initiatives, Whitecourt has adopted a new:

- Municipal Development Plan Bylaw – which sets the long-term vision for the community;
- Land Use Bylaw – which is the tool that we use to implement the Town’s vision and broader goals; and,
- North Flats Area Structure Plan Bylaw – which outlines the specific vision for the lands that lie north of Flats Road and south of the Athabasca River.

Thank you to the Committee members for their hard work and dedication, and to the many residents, stakeholders and agencies that provided input into the creation of these bylaws.

Whitecourt will be proceeding with three energy projects with funding support from the Municipal Climate Change Action Centre’s Community Energy Conservation (CEC) Program. CEC has approved 50% funding ($345,214) to go towards the following projects to help reduce energy consumption, save utility costs, and reduce greenhouse gas emissions:

- McLeod Arena roof replacement at JDA Place.
- REALice, a high-precision water treatment system for ice rinks, will be installed at JDA Place. The system eliminates the need for hot water when building and resurfacing the ice.
- Replacement of two boilers at the Allan & Jean Millar Centre.

The Communities in Bloom provincial judges will be touring Whitecourt on Monday, August 12 to rate our community in eight categories as part of the provincial competition. Let’s all do our part in showing the judges just how beautiful Whitecourt is! The Whitecourt Communities in Bloom Committee requests your support in showcasing Whitecourt to the provincial judges, and asks that we all keep Whitecourt beautiful by making sure our yards are tidy, and by ensuring our green spaces and business storefronts are litter free. Whitecourt is an incredible place to live, and the Committee wants to make sure that it is showcased at its best for this year’s competition.

A delegation from Whitecourt’s Twin Town of Yubetsu, Japan is scheduled to tour Whitecourt from September 24 and October 1, 2024. The delegation, which includes 10 students and two chaperones, will be homestaying, and Whitecourt is currently looking for local families that would be interested in taking a student into their home and sharing their community and customs. For more information, please contact Andrew Malmquist at 780-787-3637 or andrewmalmquist@whitecourt.ca.

Whitecourt Town Council received a quarterly financial report and 2024 Project List at the July 15 Regular Meeting. Both reports are available to view at www.whitecourt.ca/your-town

This common algae naturally occurs during the summer months when the days are sunny and hot. Further advisories are anticipated in the region.

To protect yourself and your pets, AHS advises to avoid contact with blue-green algae blooms, don't swim in water where blue-green algae is visible, and do not drink or cook with water from this lake.

If you suspect a problem related to blue-green algae or if you require further information on health concerns and blue-green algae, please call Health Link at 811. Additional information is also available online at ahs.ca/eph.

FORTRESS NORTH AMERICA

Submitted by MLA Shane Getson

The first time I heard this I believe was back in 2010 from a retired USA Airforce Colonel when he was discussing how the military regarded Alberta when it came to energy security. I've taken that concept, expanded upon it as the way to present the concept of Economic Corridors not only to folks who call the Great White North home, but to our friends, family, and neighbors in the land of the free. Given the current global state of affairs, we have gone from a just in time delivery model, to more of a just in case model. Further, the discussion on resilience, adaptability and "Radical Collaboration" has never been more relevant. In simple terms, build things that last, work together like there is a real need to do so, and make sure we use the stuff we have at hand rather than being dependent on others for our survival. Rural logic, applied in large scale.

With my role as the "Parliamentary Secretary for Economic Corridor Development", I am the Premier's Parliamentary Secretary. Along with being the Premier, she is also the Minister of "inter-governmental affairs", so I have an opportunity as it were to assist in that role, and she has given me a ton of rope to work with. Additionally, I've been assigned to a number of US / Canadian organizations. Organizations I would suggest that we have not fully taken advantage of in the past and have not had the representation by MLAs that we should have. We are changing that.

As a member of the "Energy Council" Alberta and Saskatchewan are the only Canadian Members, the rest are the energy producing states. I was appointed early this year and attended my first meeting in North Dakota this June. I can tell you full well, we have friends, allies, and "Radical Collaborators" (Red Tape Cutters, CAN-adians and Ameri-CANs) south of the border that not only want to be extremely environmentally conscientious but want to ensure that we don't lose our competitive advantage when it comes to energy. We also discussed the issues of how we allowed foreign nations to surpass us in the rare earth elements and critical minerals space. It wasn't because they outsmarted us, we let them get past us due to our own policies. The folks there were very happy to see Alberta at the table, engaging fully, and in a very meaningful way!

We had had several small US legislators visit us in May of this year, groups from the Council of State Governments, the Mid-West and West chapters. These groups came independent of each other, but left with similar impressions, and had invited me to come to their executive meetings to present at their Annual General Meetings on the topic of Economic Corridors. I recently returned from Portland Oregon where I presented the concept, and the practical applications of the how. I am leaving this weekend for Columbus Ohio to present at the Midwest meeting. My colleagues across the border, regardless of the party they belong, are very keen to hear more, and to see how they can work with us.

Our Minister of Transportation and Economic Corridors not only re-signed an MOU with the prairie provinces, we just added the Northwest Territories right before the Calgary Stampede. The significance of this is huge, it clearly demonstrates the willingness of the provinces and territories to work together, in building the Northwest part of our country, not only trade relationships but real pathways so that linier infrastructure can be built again in a timely manner. During the Calgary Stampede the Minister hosted an event where the Ambassador of the USA and our Premier spoke, both extolling the importance of the economic corridors that have been in use for years, new ones to come, and the vital importance Alberta not only plays in Canada, but most specifically, to the US itself. These were not hollow words from the USA Ambassador, but from the heart, and with a clear understanding of the need to ensure that "Fortress North America" comes to fruition. I was quite pleased when the ambassador came over to me to introduce himself, he gave me his challenge coin, shook my hand, and thanked me for the work on the Economic Corridor file.

The following day as it turned out, we were at the same table for breakfast and continued our conversation. I gave him one of my lapel pins, and explained the symbolism that I had chosen. Black and Gold in color for our energy, our provincial shield depicting the prairie, foothills, and mountains. The rams head, as it's our provincial mammal, and after all, they like us, sometimes butt heads to resolve our differences. Two crossed swords, one to protect our province, but just as important, one to protect our country and our allies. He was openly appreciative and began speaking on how many things Alberta has to offer, and that we need to be better at letting others know about it, don't be afraid to say it often. He then gave me his trade mission lapel pin and some more advice on items I should address and discuss on my upcoming conference in Oregon.

When folks ask me what is going on with the Northern Corridor, or the one out to Hudson Bay, or the west coast they are always happy to hear the progress being made, but they are also surprised that there isn't anything about it in the media. I have no good explanation about that, other than they don't get it, or don't want to get it. So I thought I'd take advantage of our local papers, to share some of the more recent wins. I'll keep spreading the good word of what we have going on here in Alberta, how we want it work with others in the most collaborative way, how we not only want to lay the foundations for a strong future for ourselves, but for our trading partners. How our experiences, and our resources, are literally the solution to several problems and challenges. I have noted that if we don't tell our story ourselves, our own federal consulates will not, and our trading partners won't hear it. Perhaps that is what the US ambassador was eluding too as well.

When I spoke at the recent grade 12 graduations in Evansburg and Onoway, I wanted to impart some advice to the graduation classes. Nothing too fancy, lofty, or lengthy, something that they could remember. For good measure my staff this year printed some of the more sage items I've come up with over the years on the back of the certificates, and I truly hope that they may come in handy for them, as they have helped me over the years. The basic gist goes like this. Know who you are, where you came from, who those are that truly support you and want the best for you. Be proud of who you are, listen more than you talk, and be willing to come up with a better solution by working with others. Be yourself, because you can't fake authenticity, and people know it. Don't be afraid to speak up, and to do the right thing, it may not be easy, but it's the right thing to do. To keep in mind always, if it was easy, someone else would be doing it, and for less money, everyone gets bucked off, so suck it up buttercup, dust yourself off and get back at it. The most important one is that none of us have this thing called life all figured out yet, but many of us are more than willing to give you some of our time to help you along when you ask for it.

I wish you nothing but the best for the rest of your week, and I thank you for your feedback over the last few months in person, and through the emails. Please keep me apprised of what matters to you

TRUDEAU GOVERNMENT'S DISHONEST NATO & MILITARY SPENDING PLANS

Submitted by MP Gerald Soroka

Justin Trudeau was the laughingstock at the 2024 NATO Summit for promoting his weak defence policies on the world stage. While announcing an official statement to an empty room in Washington, D.C., Trudeau said that Canada will reach the minimum 2-percent NATO defence spending target by 2032 presently at 1.37 percent.

This will certainly be another failed promise as he has not presented any plan to reach that objective. If the Trudeau Liberals were serious about this commitment, they would have disclosed new investments and funding plans in their 'Defence Policy Update' three months ago.

The real issue behind the lack of defence spending is that the Trudeau Liberals do not care about our military. Since Trudeau rose to power, our Canadian Armed Forces have been underfunded and ignored by this government. Recruitment is falling behind with the military being almost 16,000 members short, procurement of proper resources is absent, and our serving troops are neglected at home and abroad. The Liberal government recently cut $1 billion in the defence budget for operational funding after eight years of providing $10 billion dollars with no progress to show for our military.

Like millions of Canadians, our service members are also struggling in this affordability crisis caused by this Liberal government. They have been sent overseas and forced to pay for their own meals and buy their own equipment. Our forces are short over 6,700 housing units, and military families are using food banks to get by. Even some serving members are homeless or at risk of becoming homeless.

The Trudeau government is recklessly spending on every matter except for properly funding our military. Due to his lack of leadership, the Canadian Armed Forces' worldwide reputation has decayed just like the outdated equipment that our troops still use to serve our country at home and abroad.

Only a Common-Sense Conservative government will restore our military to its former glory and effectively support our troops in their fundamental responsibilities. Conservatives will make real efforts to meet our NATO spending requirements and reinvest in our defence sector.

We honour our Canadian Armed Forces and will ensure our military have the equipment and resources they need to perform their duties here and overseas.

CYANOBACTERIA (BLUE-GREEN ALGAE) ADVISORY ISSUED FOR LAC STE. ANNE

Submitted by Alberta Health Services

Cyanobacteria (blue-green algae) has been identified in the waters of Lac Ste. Anne, located in Lac Ste. Anne County. Residents living near the shores of this lake, as well as visitors to this lake, are advised to take the following precautions:

- Avoid all contact with cyanobacterial blooms. If contact occurs, wash with tap water as soon as possible.

- Do not swim or wade or allow your pets to swim or wade in any areas where cyanobacteria is visible.
- Do not feed whole fish or fish trimmings from this lake to your pets.
- Consider limiting human consumption of whole fish and fish trimmings from this lake, as it is known that fish may store toxins in their liver. (People can safely consume fish filets from this lake).

As always, visitors and residents are reminded to never drink or cook with untreated water directly from any recreational body of water, including Lac Ste.

Anne, at any time. Boiling of this water will not remove the toxins produced by cyanobacteria. An alternate source of drinking water should also be provided for pets and livestock, while this advisory is active.

Cyanobacteria is naturally occurring, and often becomes visible when weather conditions are calm. Appearing like scum, grass clippings, fuzz, or globs on the surface of water, cyanobacteria can be blue-green, greenish-brown, brown, and/or pinkish-red, and often smell musty or grassy.

People who come in contact with visible cyanobacteria or who ingest water containing cyanobacteria may experience skin irritation, rash, sore throat, sore red eyes, swollen lips, fever, nausea and vomiting and/or diarrhea. Symptoms usually appear within one to three hours and resolve in one to two days. Symptoms in children are often more pronounced; however, all humans are at risk of these symptoms. Exposure to the bacteria may be fatal to pets.

Weather and wind conditions can cause algae blooms to move from one location in the lake to another. As such, this advisory will remain in effect for Lac Ste. Anne, until further notice.

Please note that waters of Lac Ste. Anne in which the cyanobacterial bloom is NOT visible can still be used for recreational purposes, even while this Health Advisory is in place.

If you suspect a problem related to cyanobacteria or if you require further information on health concerns and cyanobacteria,

LEVELLING THE PLAYING FIELD

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Alberta's government is keeping sport affordable for Alberta families by supporting non-profits that provide sport equipment for children.

Every kid deserves the opportunity to play sports and participate in recreational activities they love, no matter their financial situation. Alberta's government is breaking down the financial barriers that often prevent kids from engaging in sport and recreation programs, including helping Alberta families access sport equipment needed to participate.

Through the Every Kid Can Play program, Alberta's government is providing a total of $400,000 to Sport Central and the Calgary Flames Sports Bank, two non-profit organizations that provide donated sport equipment to families across the province.

"Sport should be accessible for everyone. Unfortunately, the cost of equipment can make participation in sport unaffordable for many families. By supporting organizations that share our government's vision of sport being accessible to all, we're ensuring more kids can participate in the sports they love, regardless of their financial circumstances."

Joseph Schow, Minister of Tourism and Sport

"I am proud that our government is continuing to ensure sports are affordable and accessible for Alberta's youth. By breaking down financial barriers in sport, we are ensuring kids across the province have the opportunity to build healthy habits for life."

Nathan Neudorf, Minister of Affordability and Utilities
Edmonton's Sport Central and the Calgary Flames Sports Bank collect, refurbish and distribute gently used sport gear to families in need across Alberta. In 2023, Sport Central provided sport equipment to more than 10,500 children in central and northern Alberta and in southern Alberta the Calgary Flames Sports Bank distributed more than 16,600 pieces of equipment to children.

"This support from the Government of Alberta will have tremendous impact far beyond the physical benefits. Kids will feel joy, inclusion and support. Sport Central is so very grateful for this support. Together, as partners and a community, we are doing everything possible to make sure every kid can play!"

Janna Tominuk, CEO, Sport Central

"Our Calgary Flames Sports Bank and the thousands of very deserving youth who receive our support are thrilled about this announcement. This investment by the Government of Alberta is game-changing for the work we do in our community."

Kevin Webster, CEO, Calgary Flames Sports Bank

The Every Kid Can Play Program allows eligible families to apply for a grant of $350 per child to offset their child's registration in sport and recreational activities. Applications to offset registration fees are available year-round through KidSport Alberta.

Provincial and community-level non-profit organizations can also apply for grant funding through the Every Kid Can Play program to increase access to their sport and recreation programming. Last year, Alberta's government helped almost 10,000 children and youth register for the sports they love and supported 82 non-profits throughout the province. The deadline for provincial and community-level organizations to apply for Every Kid Can Play funding is July 31.
