The County Announces Update Regarding Administration Building Lawsuits

Providing an update statement regarding Administration Building lawsuits.

Published on November 28, 2024

On December 15, 2023, Lac Ste. Anne County accepted an offer to settle the Administration Building lawsuit against the parties who designed and built it. The settlement funds ($8,456,000) have been invested in a secure growth savings account until required.

During the lawsuit, comprehensive expert investigations and assessments were conducted. They indicated that the damage to the Administration Building was extensive, required monitoring due to its ongoing nature, and was economically not feasible to fully repair the building. Therefore, the council accepted the conclusion that the most reasonable long-term option would be replacing the building.

The County continues to monitor the building to ensure its safety and operability, and experts have confirmed that the structure remains safe. Accordingly, the County currently has no plans to incur the cost and disruption of any significant capital project related to the Administration Building.

In a further effort to maximize recovery for the damages to the Administration Building, the County has been pursuing a property insurance claim. The building was insured through an insurance program with the Rural Municipalities of Alberta (RMA), an organization dedicated to serving its members, including Lac Ste. Anne County. Despite attempts to resolve this matter amicably with the RMA, the County has been compelled to initiate another lawsuit. It is currently in the early stages of litigation. The County will continue to work to reasonably resolve the dispute with the RMA insurance program.

We will provide further information on the above through future media releases. However, based on advice from the County's legal counsel, only limited information about this matter can be shared at this time.

The Lac Ste. Anne County Administration, Reeve, and Council remain resolute in their commitment to represent and protect the interests of our community. Together, we will navigate these challenges, ensuring taxpayer dollars are safeguarded, and our County's future is secure. We sincerely thank the ratepayers for their understanding and cooperation throughout this process.

"We are committed to safeguarding taxpayer dollars and ensuring a secure future for our County, [and] sincerely thank our residents for their patience and understanding as we navigate this complex situation."

Joe Blakeman, Reeve, Lac Ste. Anne County

PEGG GARDEN MEMBERSHIP DRIVE BENEFITS TWO ORGANIZATIONS

Submitted by Lorraine Taylor,
George Pegg Botanic Garden

As another season at the George Pegg Botanic Garden wraps up, the plants are settled under a blanket of snow. Our volunteers are already making plans for next summer.

2024 was a busy year with several family-friendly events, welcoming visitors from June to August, offering tours for special guests, and private groups renting the site. Our four summer staff did an outstanding job of maintaining the plants and buildings and gained some new skills at the same time.

Although the Garden closed for the season at the end of August, important work has continued. The machine shed, where many of our events take place, is getting a new roof. With a cost of more than $65,000.00 we are grateful for funding from the Alberta Government through the Heritage Preservation Partnership Program and from Lac Ste. Anne County.

While you are looking for Christmas gift ideas, or simply to support a local community organization, consider buying a 2025 membership for Pegg Garden. For just $10 members' names will be entered for a draw on December 15 to win a West End Meals-on-Wheels Cash Calendar. Throughout 2025 the calendar draws will award more than $6,500.00 in cash prizes. Membership sales, special events, along with private and corporate donations all help us pay for ongoing maintenance and conservation projects of the historic buildings and plant collection. For photos and all the details check the Pegg website and Facebook page, email Pegg-BotanicGarden@gmail.com, or call us at 780-203-0331.

PUTTING AN END TO THE PHOTO RADAR CASH COW

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Alberta's government is ending the photo radar cash cow, eliminating areas where photo radar is used to generate revenue with no traffic safety benefit.

Many Albertans have expressed growing frustration with photo radar, questioning its focus on revenue rather than safety. In response to these concerns, Alberta's government paused the introduction of new photo radar equipment and locations on Dec. 1, 2019. Now, after thorough analysis and consultation, Alberta's government is taking bold steps to restore public trust.

Effective April 1, 2025, ticketing on numbered provincial highways will end as photo radar will be restricted to school, playground and construction zones. Intersection safety devices in Alberta will also be restricted to red light enforcement only, ending the 'speed-on-green' ticketing function.

Municipalities will also be able to request that the province approve additional photo radar locations on an exceptional basis, for high collision areas and where other safety measures cannot be implemented effectively. These types of exceptions will be subject to an audit every two years to assess the effectiveness of photo radar at the site in reducing collisions.

"This is great news for Alberta drivers. These changes will once and for all kill the photo radar cash cow in Alberta. Albertans can be confident that photo radar will only be used to improve traffic and roadside worker safety and not to make money."

Devin Dreeshen, Minister of Transportation and Economic Corridors

The next step for government is to review every existing photo radar site in the province over the next four months. As part of that review, those that are deemed ineffective, or outside of a school, playground, or construction zone, will be removed. This is expected to reduce the current 2,200 approved sites by 70 per cent, which would also better align the amount of photo radar with other provinces. Currently, there are about 70 per cent more photo radar sites used in 24 Alberta municipalities than the next highest province. Allowing these changes to be implemented over the next four months provides municipalities time to transition, update equipment and adjust contracts with vendors.

"I'm happy to see the province focusing photo radar on playground and construction zones. We need to prioritize safety where it matters most – protecting our children and workers on Calgary's roads. I'm proud to support this vital step toward safer communities."

Dan McLean, councillor, Ward 13, City of Calgary

"It is vital we maintain safety where it matters most—around our schools, playgrounds and construction zones. These are areas where enforcement can genuinely protect lives, not just generate revenue. With this new policy change, we'll see more officers back in neighbourhoods and that visibility will help tackle the growing issues of crime and disorder – a top priority for Edmontonians and Albertans."

Tim Cartmell, councillor, Ward pihêsiwin, City of Edmonton

"The Minister's announcement will ensure that the use of photo radar is focused on enhancing traffic safety on high-risk roadways. RMA looks forward to learning how current photo radar sites will be assessed and is optimistic that this will result in an approach that supports safer roads without unfairly penalizing drivers."

Kara Westerlund, president, Rural Municipalities of Alberta

Municipalities will be encouraged to use traffic-calming measures to improve traffic safety, including speed warning signs, speed tables (large flat speed bump), public education campaigns and other tools designed to improve traffic safety. The province will also help make roads safer by providing municipalities with support to reengineer roads and intersections that have been proven to be unsafe.
