PARKLAND RCMP REQUESTING PUBLIC ASSISTANCE IN A HIT AND RUN INVESTIGATION

Submitted by Parkland RCMP

The parkland RCMP are investigating a hit and run collision in the Brookwood drive area of Spruce Grove on April 5th, 2025 involving three vehicles one of which fled the scene before the driver could be identified. A driver of one of the vehicles later attended a hospital with minor injuries believed to be sustained in the collision.

The vehicle that fled is described as a red or maroon Dodge Ram towing a white Starcraft travel trailer.

Parkland RCMP is looking to identify the driver of the Dodge Ram.

RCMP OFFICERS CHARGED WITH DANGEROUS DRIVING

Submitted by Government of Alberta

On March 5, 2020, the Alberta Serious Incident Response Team (ASIRT) was directed to investigate a possible dangerous driving offence while on duty by Parkland County RCMP officers on February 25, 2020.

The evidence gathered during ASIRT's investigation provided reasonable grounds to believe that an offence had been committed. As required by the Police Act, the investigation was forwarded to the Alberta Crown Prosecution Service (ACPS) to determine whether the evidence met the standard for prosecution.

Following a review of the investigation and having been advised that the ACPS was of the opinion that the evidence met their standard for prosecution, ASIRT Executive Director Michael Ewenson determined that the involved officers should be charged. On April 7, 2025, Const. Debra-Ann Wash and Const. Dorian Tooze were charged with operating a conveyance in a manner that was dangerous to the public under Sec. 320.13(1) of the Criminal Code. They were released on an appearance notice and are scheduled for first appearance on May 21 in the Stony Plain Court of Justice.

As this matter is now before the courts, no further information will be released.

ASIRT's mandate is to effectively, independently and objectively investigate incidents involving Alberta's police that have resulted in serious injury or death to any person, as well as serious or sensitive allegations of police misconduct.

JOKE of the week

Paul, late for an important meeting, was searching desperately for a parking spot in a parking lot. Looking up to the heaven's he entreated "God if you find me a parking spot, I promise to start going to church again." The words were barely out of his mouth, when a spot opened up right in front of his car. Paul looked back up, "never mind I found one."

confirmed cases in the province, and we are paying close attention to rising cases within the south and central zones. While the number of cases is concerning, I want to let Albertans know that public health officials are managing the cases and contacts as well as working with local leadership to support affected communities.

"As of April 11, an estimated 48 confirmed measles cases are likely to be past their period of communicability (the time the person can transmit measles to another person). However, it's important to note that this does not necessarily reflect risk in the community as there may be people with undiagnosed measles, including people coming into the province from other places where it's circulating, nor does it reflect the number of persons who have been exposed to measles.

"Measles is more serious than other common childhood illnesses. It can cause pneumonia, brain swelling and even death. Early symptoms of measles include a fever, cough, runny nose, red eyes and a blotchy red rash that appears three to seven days after the fever starts. If you are showing symptoms of measles, stay home and call 811 for further direction.

"In light of the measles outbreaks across the province, I want to remind all Albertans that these outbreaks are highly preventable. Albertans can protect themselves and those around them by ensuring their measles immunizations are up to date. Immunization with measles-containing vaccine is the single most important public health intervention to prevent measles. This is especially true for parents of children aged two and younger, who are more susceptible to severe outcomes as a result of contracting measles.

"The measles vaccine is safe and highly effective at preventing infection and complications and is readily available to eligible Albertans. To see if you are eligible to get the vaccine, for the Calgary or Edmonton Zone you can call the Immunization Booking Line at 811 between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. If you live in another zone in Alberta, contact your local public health or community health centre.

"Alberta Health is providing regular updates to measles cases at alberta.ca/measles, including expanded data for age groupings, estimated data for those who are outside of their period of communicability and information related to immunization status of cases and number of immunization doses administered.

"It's important that Albertans do their part to prevent the spread of measles. For more information, please visit alberta.ca/measles."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

In accordance with the requirements of Section 606 of the Municipal Government Act, as amended, the Council of Parkland County has scheduled a Public Hearing regarding the proposed adoption of the following bylaw:

Bylaw: 2025-12 Parkland County Land Use Bylaw

Date: Tuesday, April 22, 2025

Time: 5:00 pm

Location: Parkland County Council Chambers, 53109A Hwy 779, Parkland County, Alberta.

The Land Use Bylaw (LUB) regulates development within Parkland County with a goal of ensuring that neighbouring land uses are compatible. The LUB is an important tool that the municipality has to ensure that local development aligns with the County's vision. Land use regulations can help preserve prime agricultural lands, protect environmentally sensitive areas, support diverse economic growth, and help families age in place within their community.

Hearing Procedure

This is a formal Public Hearing and Council is prepared to hear and receive formal submissions and presentations (verbal or written) from those who wish to speak to the proposed Bylaw. Written submissions or presentations may either be submitted in advance to Planning & Development Services by 4:00 P.M. on April 18, 2025, or submitted at the commencement of the Public Hearing.

Anyone wishing to make a verbal presentation to Council must notify governanceagendas@parklandcounty.com in advance of the Public Hearing by 4:00 P.M. on April 18, 2025. Verbal presentations at the Public Hearing will be limited to 10 minutes. Anyone wishing to make a verbal presentation who has not made prior arrangements may be allocated a time at the commencement of the Public Hearing. Council advises that this is your last chance to comment on the proposed Bylaw, as Council cannot receive more submissions after the Public Hearing is closed.

Copies of Proposed Bylaw 2025-12

Copies of the proposed Bylaw 2025-12 are available free of charge during regular business hours (8:30 A.M. to 4:30 P.M., Monday to Friday) from Planning & Development Services at Parkland County Centre. A copy of the proposed bylaw can also be found at www.parklandcounty.com/2025-12 or yourparkland.ca/LUB

If you have any questions, please contact the LUB ReDesign Project Team at buildingparkland@parklandcounty.com

SPRING IS CONSTRUCTION TIME!

Submitted by MLA Shane Getson

I like spring, always have, always will. It is that time of year where we round the corner out of the darkness and cold into light and hope. It's Easter, for most of us, the most holy time of year. The Easter bunny, little kids on egg and chocolate hunts, it's the time of year where the seeds for the garden are getting lined up and that old "Honey Do List" that's been collecting dust gets dug out for all to see. It's the time of year for getting the equipment serviced and ready to go. Construction projects are funded, discussed, contracts are out for proposal, and time to plan as soon as the frost is out of the ground to turn dirt, and burn diesel. I love this time of year.

We just made it through the heavy lifting part of the budget for the province as well, meetings upon meetings where all parties get to grill the ministers on their proposed budget for the year. Unfortunately, this year it's a deficit budget, due to the price of oil, and that we had to carry some contingency based on the potential trade tariffs.

In short, it looks like we are going to need to spend more than we are bringing in, and had to set some aside in case things go sideways with our largest trading partner. We have managed to balance the budget for the last few years in a row, and it's a real gut check to deal with this one, but we also passed a law a few years back that forces governments to get back to balance, and that is what we will work to do.

I was asked recently about what did we get out of the budget, and for me I usually go back to make sure we have infrastructure funding for transportation, money for schools, money for health care, and money to take care of folks who need it who fall on hard times. We also need to make sure we are allocating time and effort to make sure we get things back to being affordable.

So, to bring it back to the local level, the work on Highway 43, 44, 42, 37, 22, 16, Nikoodi Road, and the interface of 16A and range road 20 are all still a go. Maintenance will still continue as the crew chase the pot holes, cracks, and intersection improvements.

Highway 22 near the Lazy S Ranch will be getting the repairs it so greatly needs done as soon as the frost comes out.

Nikoodi Road will be underway for planning and consultation. The great news is that we will be utilizing this section of road for a test section of closed form geo cell, which will give us a very solid road, and manage the localized soils conditions while proving that it can be used elsewhere more cost effectively to reduce aggregate volumes. That means, the budget will go further, and it will get more roads built faster.

Highway 60 overpass and road improvements will be going to contract. Design is nearing completion, the last settlements with landowners seem to be coming to a close, and utility relocation discussions are well advanced. Long and short, we have never been closer, the budget is there, and it soon can become a reality, mitigating safety and transportation concerns in the area.

In regards to education funding, there have been some statistics floating around about how we are the lowest in the country. I, like many, have struggled with this, since I've been elected, education never had a cut, they held the line for funding, the last couple of budgets they received increases. This last year we have about 8 billion allocated over the next few years to build around 100 schools for the needs we've seen because of our population increase. So the other thing that we have here in the province of the Strong and Free is freedom of choice. This includes where you as a parent, yes that's right parental choice again is a key foundation of a strong society, can decide where and how to have your children educated.

The expectations, the standards are the same with provincial testing, but it allows flexibility, and during the "Covid" years, as well as the ripple effect from it, many school divisions, kids, and parents are taking full advantage of it. Other provinces don't nearly have the same choices, and I believe because we have funded choices, it's why we are right now leading the nation with educational results either being the top, or in the top 3, because we have the choice in education, which is adequately funded.

Healthcare, well, this one is another hot topic, some folks figure if you just keep doing the same thing, throw more cash at it and put up more buildings, you will get different results. Einstein, by all accounts a real smart fella one time said doing the exact same thing repetitively and expecting results was insanity. I'm inclined to agree, so what are we up too then?

De-bottlenecking, rather than just throwing up new multi billion dollar buildings, looking at how many beds are in the overall inventory, and determine how we can get folks moving again through the system. Strategically funding construction for new beds where needed, point in case for the Stollery Hospital. Because we are matching funding for 200 additional beds, it will free up 2 to 4 times more capacity elsewhere. With the restructuring of the AHS organization, which in cross jurisdictional analysis, says we are bloated worse than a heifer cut loose in a heavy crop of alfalfa.

Instead of letting the gas out of the system, like you would with the proverbial heifer, we are instead breaking it up into bite sized manageable groups with a focus under a few different ministries. In addition, carving back a ton of scope creep, so that the AHS group can focus on what they are good at. Health "Corridors" will address how folks actually live, changing the arbitrary boundaries that have crept up over the years, to allow for access and funding to be directed where people need it most. The big one that just came out, is that the funding will follow the patient, this model has been used for decades in Australia, and in Europe. What it allows is that there is choice in where the surgery can take place, based on what the best and fastest service that can be provided to the patient! When Australia implemented this, wait times went down by 53 % in the first year!

There are a number of other items that the budget addresses, it's not my favorite one by a country mile, but it does address many of the items that matter to us right now, in our area, and in our province. We have a few uncertainties that are out of our control, but we are looking at mitigating that risk, and have allocated contingency. We are actively working on the things we can, making the changes where needed, putting families, parents, and kids first. We are dealing directly with folks across the border, and because of that, so far, we've managed to mitigate hundreds of millions of dollars in tariffs. Common sense isn't dead, it's been on life support for a while, and we are nursing it back to life, putting policy in place that will ensure it makes a full recovery here in the province of the strong and free. Voters made it loud and clear to me, it's what matters to you.

FUELING INNOVATION, STRENGTHENING ALBERTA'S GRID

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Proposed legislative changes will pave the way for emerging hydrogen technologies, and modernize Alberta's utility system by prioritizing reliability and long-term affordability.

As Alberta's population and economy continue to grow, so does the demand for reliable utilities. From heating and cooling homes to powering communities and businesses, Albertans need to know they have access to affordable utilities they can depend on, when and where they need them.

Bill 52, the Energy and Utilities Statutes Amendment Act, 2025, proposes changes to meet growing demand, prioritizing reliability and affordability in the modernization of the utility system. If passed, the Energy and Utilities Statutes Amendment Act will enable hydrogen use in Alberta's natural gas system. It will also support critical updates to power market rules and transmission policies to strengthen the power grid, lower and stabilize utility bills, and encourage investment in the province.

"We're shaping a utility system built to last by preserving investment, innovation and open competition while tackling volatile prices and grid stability so Alberta's energy future is resilient and full of opportunity."

Chantelle de Jonge, parliamentary secretary, Affordability and Utilities

Driving innovation in hydrogen

The world is looking to hydrogen as an energy solution for hard-to-abate industries. As the largest hydrogen producer in Canada, Alberta has the resources, expertise and investment-ready environment necessary to be a destination of choice for investors and innovators. Through the Energy and Utilities Statutes Amendment Act, 2025, proposed amendments would allow hydrogen blending in the natural gas distribution system for residential and commercial heating and support new technologies while ensuring the safety and reliability of the natural gas system.

Changes will protect ratepayers from rising costs by ensuring only those who receive hydrogen-blended natural gas in their homes and businesses will pay for any additional system costs. Utility providers will also be required to ensure community support on hydrogen blending projects.

Strengthening the grid, protecting ratepayers

Albertans increasingly rely on electricity to power their homes, businesses and lives. The Energy and Utilities Statutes Amendment Act, 2025, if passed, will put Albertans first by advancing the modernization of the electricity market to ensure it can meet their growing needs, at a price they can afford.

Proposed amendments support the move to a day-ahead reliability market, ensure there is enough power available and reduce the risk of grid alerts in the future. Much-needed updates will also be made to Alberta's transmission policies to protect ratepayers from rising transmission costs on their utility bills. This includes encouraging more efficient use of existing infrastructure by maximizing the use of existing lines and ensuring new power projects are built in optimal locations. Changes will also see costs assigned on a cost-causation basis, ensuring that Albertans are not burdened with the full cost of any new transmission lines that need to be built.

Additional legislative changes

The Energy and Utilities Statutes Amendment Act, 2025 also includes an amendment to the Petroleum Marketing Act to increase the number of directors on the Alberta Petroleum Marketing Commission board from seven to 13 to increase the range of expertise and allow for more robust governance. This will also increase support for new initiatives such as the bitumen royalty in-kind and a proposed gas royalty in-kind, ensuring Albertans receive the maximum value for our resources.

BRING MORE NATURAL LIGHT INTO A HOME

Maximizing natural light in a home is a smart and sometimes low-cost renovation. Homes that are dark and drab can drain energy levels and reduce productivity. In addition, dark rooms may not be inviting places to gather as a family or when entertaining.

Certain factors contribute to a dark home. Houses that face north or east may not get the same level of sunlight as those that primarily face south and west. Geographic location also plays a role in the amount of natural sunlight. Mountains, buildings and even latitude can affect the amount of natural light that enters a home.

The style of a home and its attributes also may create dark conditions. Deep house eaves as well as small windows or too few windows also can contribute to a deficit of light indoors. A major remodel certainly can remedy the situation. However, there also are other less-extensive strategies to improve natural light.

- Assess the situation before renovating. Walk around the house and determine which rooms get the most light and which conditions may be contributing to the problem in other areas. Dark floors and walls may be absorbing natural light and compounding the situation. You may find that only one or two rooms need attention, saving you the cost and effort associated with a major home overhaul.

- Lighten up window treatments. Heavy drapes or thick blinds can be replaced with translucent alternatives. Translucent shades will allow light into the room without compromising privacy, say the experts at HGTV.

- Use mirrors strategically. A mirror placed opposite a window will reflect light all around the room. This can make a small room seem larger and a dark space instantly brighter.

- Install new windows and doors. If the budget allows, installing larger windows in a home will allow more natural light in. French doors or sliding doors also may make a home's interior more bright. Think about adding windows to a side of the house that has none, or increase the size of the windows on the side of the house that gets the most light.

- Maximize sunlight from above. Skylights will bring light into a home as the sun passes overhead. Tubular skylights can bring natural sunlight into spaces where you may not expect skylights to be practical. According to Houzz, a design and architectural resource, tubular daylighting devices, or TDDs, can make a big difference. TDDs are reflective pipes installed between the roof and ceiling, with a clear plastic dome.

- Use reflective decor. Reflective surfaces, including glass and metal, can brighten up a room and diffuse light around a room. Glossy backsplashes, pendant lighting and shiny metal that reflect light can increase the natural light, balancing out dark spaces.

- Prune trees regularly. Cut back branches and keep trees tidy to maximize sunlight. Avoid planting tall shrubbery in front of windows.

- Routinely clean windows and glass doors. Dirt and other grime can prevent light from getting through. Regularly give windows a thorough washing.

Natural light is an important commodity in a home. Sunlight can improve mood and go a long way toward keeping home occupants healthy and happy.

BASEMENT REMODELING TIPS

A basement remodeling project can add valuable and usable space to a home. For many years, homeowners overlooked the potential of a basement remodel, perhaps thinking it would not be a smart return on investment. But that's no longer the case.

The latest "Cost vs. Value" report from Remodeling magazine says the average basement remodel can cost around $61,000 with a 70.3 percent recoup rate. In addition, HGTV says architects and contractors indicate the cost of redoing a basement is roughly one-third to one-half less than the price of putting an addition on a home.

Before remodeling a basement, homeowners should think about how they want to use the space. Homeowners also must focus on some potential obstacles in a basement that will need to be addressed so that the area can be as functional as possible.

Basements can be chilly and damp. That means moisture issues and heating and cooling needs must be addressed prior to any construction. Homeowners may have to consider the installation of a dehumidifier and run venting through the basement to allow for proper climate control. If a basement takes on water, either through the walls or a concrete slab, a professional waterproofing company can come in and fix these issues so they will not damage drywall and flooring afterwards.

The presence of insects and pests also must be addressed. Exterminators can help homeowners figure out which insects are in their basements and how to make the space less hospitable to these unwelcome guests so that the room will become comfortable for human occupants.

Space is often at a premium in basements, which may contain HVAC units, water heaters, filtration devices, ductwork, pipes, and the other appliances. Qualified contractors can suggest solutions for cordoning off appliances and camouflaging pipes and wires so they won't detract from the finished product. However, building access panels into the design will make it easier to service or repair features as necessary. Homeowners also may want to wrap pipes before drywall is installed to quiet noisy drainage pipes.

Uneven basement flooring will need to be smoothed out and flattened before carpeting or tile can be laid down. A self-leveling underlayment can be applied to fill in gullies, while larger crack and holes will need to be patched.

Once the structure of the basement is addressed, then the design work can begin. Many professionals advise against drop ceilings, which can take away from ceiling height and look cheap. Basements can be dark, so the addition of plenty of lighting can help brighten the room. Small basement windows can be replaced with larger ones to add more light as well.

Homeowners can mimic built-ins and architectural details from elsewhere in the home so the basement is aesthetically cohesive and doesn't seem like an addition. Bookcases and shelving can add valuable storage space as well. Decorate the basement with bright, neutral colors so they make the space feel more inviting.

With some effort and financial investment, basements can be as beautiful and functional as other rooms in a home.

FAMILY DOCTORS EMBRACE NEW PAY MODEL

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Alberta's new compensation model for primary care physicians will launch on April 1, with hundreds of family doctors already enrolled to participate.

Alberta's government is committed to strengthening primary health care, ensuring every Albertan has access to a primary health care provider no matter where they live. This new compensation model is designed to not only support physicians in their essential work but also to enhance access to family doctors across the province.

Developed in partnership with the Alberta Medical Association (AMA), this model was announced in December following months of collaboration. With the AMA meeting the threshold of 500 enrolled physicians, the program is now set to officially launch on April 1. As of March 24, 789 family physicians have signed up to receive compensation through the new model.

"Implementing the new primary care physician compensation model is an exciting milestone in our journey to strengthen Alberta's primary health care system. The model will support family physicians and be a recruitment and retention tool to give more Albertans access to the primary care they need."

Adriana LaGrange, Minister of Health

The new compensation model will ensure Alberta's family doctors are competitively paid while promoting patient-focused care. Incentives include increases for:

- Maintaining high panel numbers (minimum of 500 patients), which will incentivize panel growth and improve access to primary care for patients.

- Providing after-hours care to relieve pressure on emergency departments and urgent care centres.

- Enhancing team-based care, which will encourage developing integrated teams that may include family physicians, nurse practitioners, registered nurses, dietitians and pharmacists to provide patients with the best care possible.

- Adding efficiencies in clinical operations to simplify processes for both patients and health care providers.

Alberta's government is committed to improving access to family physicians. This new model fosters growth while addressing patient complexity, striking a balance that enhances access to quality care for all Albertans.

"This new model will strengthen comprehensive, cradle-to-grave primary care. These practices are the foundation of our health care system. The model will help us to retain the family medicine specialists and rural generalists we already have and will go a long way toward attracting more to Alberta.”

Dr. Shelley Duggan, president, Alberta Medical Association

“Family physicians welcome this announcement. For us, it signals government’s commitment to making primary care a priority within our health care system. I know many physicians are eager to begin working under this new model so they can stabilize their practices and focus on providing high-quality care to their patients.”

Dr. Sarah Bates, president, Section of Family Medicine, Alberta Medical Association “Primary Care Alberta is pleased to see the extensive training, experience and leadership of family medicine specialists recognized.

Primary care providers play an integral role in the health of Albertans. We look forward to working with government and family medicine specialists across the province to increase access to comprehensive primary care for all Albertans, particularly in rural and remote communities.”

Kim Simmonds, CEO, Primary Care Alberta

“The PCPCM model is an important step forward in connecting every Albertan with a family physician and medical home.”

Dr. Melanie Hnatiuk, president, Alberta College of Family Physicians

Alberta International Medical Graduate Program changes

Alberta’s government is also making changes to the Alberta International Medical Graduate Program (AIMG) to better support Albertans who are studying medicine abroad and help them complete their residency in Alberta. The program assesses the qualifications of Alberta international medical graduates (IMGs) to determine their eligibility for medical residency positions at the University of Alberta and University of Calgary, but it does not select who is chosen for a residency position.

The changes will adjust the graduation deadline and remove the requirement for an externship assessment, which previously required Alberta IMGs to complete a clinical assessment period in Alberta before beginning residency. Now, they can begin right after graduation. The application period for 2026 is from May 1 to May 30, 2025.

For the 2026 application cycle, applicants will be eligible if they graduate by July 1, 2026. Previously, applicants would have had to graduate by Dec. 31, 2025. These changes will make it easier for more Albertans to complete their residency here, helping to retain skilled health care professionals and build a stronger, more sustainable health care workforce for years to come.
